It's Smart to Ride a Bike

*I*t's not just the added chance it gives you to wear fetching togs, nor the fact that it "does things" for your figure. It's not merely that it offers such handy transportation—goodness knows we manage to get about, one way or another, anyhow. It's the downright fun of it that's made riding a bike catch on the way it has—made it so definitely smart and so very much the thing to do. Riding a bike is a vogue that is here to stay—it's high time you rode one of your own!

As a climax to thirty-five years of automotive betterment, Cadillac presents its masterpiece—an entirely new Cadillac Sixteen. Built around a revolutionary new 135-degree V-type engine, this car is so advanced—in its performance, comfort, safety and beauty—that it is literally beyond description with words and pictures. We suggest, therefore, that you see it at your Cadillac-LaSalle dealer's at your earliest convenience. And, for an added surprise, ask about the price. It is now well within the range of the twelve-cylinder cars!

"American or British, my fellow guests at the British Colonial are altogether charming people." It is true of Nassau in general and of this famous hotel in particular, that you will like the people you meet here. Indeed, that particular attraction of Nassau and the British Colonial is as often talked about as are the charms of the island and the comforts of the hotel. Add to it a friendly sun, brilliant facilities for vacation living, the fascinations of a colonial capital, and Nassau's nearness (overnight from Miami by ship; two hours via daily airliner; fast steamers from northern ports), and you will have a number of good reasons for choosing the British Colonial this winter season.

AMONG THE PALMS

THE BREAKERS, famous the world over for its hospitality and luxurious surroundings opened December 1 for its twelfth consecutive season and its formal opening date was December 15. During the holidays the renowned hostelry played host to scores of family parties and the number of season guests is increasing daily. This season there are many innovations at the hotel with more to come as time progresses.

Cocoanut Grove rivals the Old Cocoanut Grove on the Poinciana grounds in popularity. The outside grove has been enlarged and beautified by the addition of many more flagstones and the size of the dance floor has also been increased. Another addition to the terrace is the recently glassed in portion adjacent to the ocean which makes the spot a cozy retreat even on the most breezy day. Every day at the pre-luncheon social hour and the afternoon tea dance there are many gay groups of guests and their friends seated at the brilliantly tinted tables and enjoying the music of Walter Miller and his Meyer Davis orchestra.

Another innovation of recent date are the shuffle board courts, situated at the beautiful Terraza floor on the east terrace in front of the Grand Loggia.

Among internationally known personages who have been at The Breakers so far this season are Lord and Lady Astor of London, Sir Herbert and Lady Marler of Canada, Sir Marler being the ambassador from Canada to the United States, the Hon. and Mrs. J. Stanley Holmes of London, and Princess Engalitcheff who arrived from New York.

Included among other well known citizens of the United States who have visited the hotel this season are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Southgate of Washington, D. C. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Sackett of Louisville, Ky. Mr. Southgate is Chief of the Protocol of the State Department and Mr. Sackett is the former U. S. Senator from Kentucky and former Ambassador to Germany.

Many guests have entertained in Cocoanut Grove at tea parties. Those who have been hosts and hostesses include Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Heilner of Sea Gull Cottage, Mr. George Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Hinde, Mrs. Roland Kahle, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Bode, Mrs. Walter Gaston, Mrs. George McGill, and Mr. Fred H. Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus L. Searle, guests at The Breakers from Minneapolis, Minn., were hosts at a large dinner party in the North Lounge recently as was Mrs. Walter Frum Schuyler, house guest of Mrs. Frank Vernon Skiff.

Among the many Breakers guests who have returned for another season's sojourn are Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Preston, Omaha, Neb.; Mr. Charles Sumner Woolworth, Scranton, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Roland L. Kahle, Kirkwood, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. McQuesten, Boston, Mass.; Mr. William Wadsworth, Montclair, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Eben Howes Ellison, Boston; Mrs. Herbert E. Gale, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. William Richman, Philadelphia; Mrs. C. A. Lockhart, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Crowley, New York City; and Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Garmany, Farmington, Conn.

Managed with dignity and efficiency, the Brazilian Court hotel has a definite appeal for discriminating persons who are accustomed to a personalized service in their own town houses and country homes. The rooms and suites in the hotel are furnished and decorated to afford the maximum of comfort and convenience and still retain a marked individuality. The patios and Cocktail Cloister invite informal entertaining and the attractive Bamboo Room is ideally arranged for large dinner parties. The Sunday night buffet suppers which enjoyed such great popularity last season with both the younger set and the older members of the resort colony, will be resumed on January 23rd. Dudley Doe and his Orchestra have returned to the hotel to play for the tea hour and during dinner.

Brazilian Court has been opened formally since November 19th. Among the distinguished visitors there is Lady Ribblesdale of Regents Lodge, London, an American-born peeress who holds a high social position in the English conservative set. She was the former Mrs. Ava Willing Astor. Lady Ribblesdale passed a few days with Colonel Louis Jacques Balsan and Madame Balsan at their estate on Hypoluxo Island and has returned to Brazilian Court for an extended visit.

The Thomas MacKellar Royals, prominent members of Philadelphia society, have taken a suite at the hotel for the season. They are annual visitors in the resort. Mr. and Mrs. Guernsey Curran of New York and Ranley House, Southampton, L. I., who were guests at the hotel earlier in the season, have gone north but will return to Palm Beach in February for the remainder of the winter.

Mr. Robert H. Hasler of Westbury, L. I., is occupying a penthouse at the hotel before taking possession of his new home on Pendleton Avenue. With him are his small son and daughter, John Tucker Hasler and Barbara Louise Hasler. Phillip H. Giddens, distinguished artist, is also occupying a pent house.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence W. Robert, Jr., who have returned to Washington, D. C., following a visit at Brazilian Court, will come down in February for another visit to the resort. Mr. Paul Bancroft, Jr., of New York and San Francisco, Cal., is an annual winter resident at Brazilian Court, where he is now occupying his usual suite.

Mr. and Mrs. Henri J. Stouse of Hurstbourne Farms, Louisville, Ky., have been guests at the hotel for several weeks. Mr. Stouse is the nephew of Mrs. Alvin T. Hert of Louisville and Washington, D. C., who will arrive soon to take possession of her new home on the South Ocean Boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Henderson remained at Brazilian Court for several weeks before occupying their new modernistic villa, Land's End. This is their first season in the cottage colony. Mrs. James de Laval Flower and her daughter, Mrs. Clarence M. Chauncey of Tuxedo Park, have again returned to Brazilian Court for the season.

The Hotel Seaglade opened for its Fifth season the first of December. Among the many improvements made during the summer were the additions of the cocktail bar, The Motorboat Seaglade, and a huge fireplace on the glass enclosed terrace. The dining room has been enlarged and redecorated a refreshing green color that forms a pleasing background for the thin gauze curtains through which the sunlight softly filters and adds a glistening touch to the amber glass and cream and brown china.

ON SUNNY PALM BEACH SANDS

THE BREAKERS CABANA CLUB is always a gathering spot for members of the winter colony as well as guests of the hotels. This season many innovations have been made, making the club more attractive than ever. Especially gay are the new cabanas arranged east of the pool. This new cabana row is brilliantly painted in bright colors and a small picket fence surrounds the sandy frontage where the many-colored umbrellas and back boards have been placed. What promises to be a popular feature of The Breakers Cabana Club is the "Dance de La Mer," where smart resort tables and seats have been placed for diners, providing views of the entire area from the balconies, and also excellent locations near the pool.

Among those who will occupy cabanas this season are: Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Crowley, Mrs. George C. Shevlin and Miss Marion Shevlin, Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Valier, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic M. Sackett, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bedford, Mr. and Mrs. Eben Howes Ellison, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Feltman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Kennedy, Col. Edward R. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Rockwell, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lotspeich.

Also Mr. Arthur G. Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Giannini, Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Candler, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Prufrock, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf N. Tevander, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Sills, Mrs. W. F. Erhart, Mr. Joseph D. Bannon, Mr. Richard Beatty, Mrs. Alfred Lustig, Mrs. Dean Osborne, and Dr. and Mrs. William E. Weiss.

Mr. Charles Norelius is again swimming instructor at The Breakers Cabana Club while Mr. A. T. Throop is again managing the club.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

One of the very newest private beach clubs is that recently erected in front of the Howland Spencer residence, "Vut de Mere," between Sunrise and Sunset Avenues. The cabanas, built for the use of several of Mr. Spencer's friends, are six in number and are arranged in a straight row facing the south. The color scheme is blue and white with canary yellow canopies, making a vivid contrast. Especially attractive are the large porches, gay with their smart lounging beach chairs of blue and white, and yellow and white. The occupants of the cabanas have also added individual decorative touches to the interiors, which are composed of good-sized sitting or reception rooms, two dressing rooms, and showers in each.

The friends of Mr. Howland Spencer who occupy the cabanas are: Mr. and Mrs. James Shevlin, Major and Mrs. R. H. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Hosack, Mr. and Mrs. Van Lear Black, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morris.

The entire beach is closed in by a neat white picket fence, and a boarded walk leads from the gate and in front of the cabana row to the ocean.

Scores of members of Sea Spray Beach Club have already been daily visitors at the club, which commenced its eighteenth season in December. Basking in the sun, relaxing against the brightly painted backboards, enjoying dips in the aquamarine pool or having an exhilarating game of tennis, are only a few of the varied activities which take place at this attractive beach club. Many of those who participate in the varied sports linger at Sea Spray to dine under the multi-colored awnings. An innovation of this season is the newly erected beach wall which stretches across the sands and affords excellent protection from wind and heavy seas.

Among those who have been noted at Sea Spray during the past few weeks are, Mr. and Mrs. A. Kinnaird Tod, Mr. Newell W. Tilton, Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Crozer, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schenck III, Col. and Mrs. Latham R. Reed, the Misses Bernice and Beatrice Tillman, Mrs. Grant B. Shipley, Mrs. Oscar G. # Whitehall

JOHN PHILIP SOUSA, 3rd, made his debut as an orchestra conductor Saturday evening in the picturesque Terrace Dining Room of Whitehall.

A graduate of Princeton, Class of '36, attractive and socially prominent in his own right, Mr. Sousa was welcomed to Palm Beach by many of the younger social set.

During the evening an impressive floor show which included top-flight entertainers was presented. Mr. Alexander Gray, who starred in the Desert Song and other musical successes, was the featured vocalist. Marissa, the Mexican dancer, who for the past seven months won acclaim with her interpretative dancing on the Starlight Roof of the Waldorf-Astoria, gave exhibition dances.

A Cavalcade of Dance in which five of the most prominent dance teams in America participated was one of the high spots of the evening. The teams included the famous Hope Minor and Edward Root, who performed the Bolero; Raoul and Eva Reys, Cuban dancers who gave an exhibition Rhumba; Pierce and Harris, noted for their Satire of Dance; Marion Wilkins and Jack Walters, King and Queen of the Waltz and Harriet Caperton and Charles Colobus, who presented a series of ballroom dances, from the bunnyhug through the current swing steps. The entire Cavalcade participated in the Big Apple at the Finale.

Among those who entertained at the formal dinner dance which officially marked the opening of Whitehall, were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson who had nine guests in their party; Mr. Foster Skillman, who arrived from New York in time for Mr. Sousa's debut, brought with him a party of friends. # Palm Beach Biltmore

THE formal opening of the Muleteer Grill, in the Palm Beach Biltmore Hotel next Saturday will add new zest to the night life of Palm Beach.

For years a gathering place of the resort's most exclusive set, the re-opening of Muleteer Grill comes as glad tidings to the winter colony. Already reservations are being made for the Noche de Gala on its inaugural.

Maxmillian Bergere and his society orchestra will provide the music in the grill which retains its original character of a Spanish Tavern. Mr. Bergere who has played for several seasons at the Stork Club and the Versailles in New York, came here from the Miami Biltmore.

Miss Eva Ortega, well known continental singer, will be the featured entertainer in the Grill. The Noches de Gala which will be a weekly event through the season, will be distinguished by impressive floor shows and special entertainment.

Among the entertainers who will lead the Big Apple are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Richards, Miss Anita Stone and Mr. Albert Vente, Miss Ruth Thomson and Mr. Harry Bronson, and Miss Billie Stanton and Mr. Charles Dunn.

The Palm Beach Biltmore, dark for five years, will have many innovations this season.

Although not yet formally open, the Palm Beach Biltmore already has a number of prominent guests. These include Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Savage of Baltimore, Md.; Miss Betty Chapin of Locust Valley, Long Island; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kerney of Trenton, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. C. D. DeBarry of Evanston, Ill.; Mrs. Alan Reed and Mrs. Allison Cochran, both of Wyncote, Pa.; Mr. Tom Webb, noted illustrator of New York and Bayside, L. I.; Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Kohlmann of Staten Island, N. Y.; Dr. and Mrs. S. A. Driscoll of Staten Island; N. Y.; and Mrs. Horace Ruyl of Brooklyn.

Misses Mildred and Betsy Wiley of Chicago, who passed the holidays at the Miami Biltmore in Coral Gables, arrived last week for a visit to the Palm Beach Biltmore. They are leaving Palm Beach Saturday for a short trip to Nassau before returning to Chicago.

New arrivals at the Palm Beach Biltmore include Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kerney of Trenton, N. J., and Mrs. Caroline L. Bill of New Rochelle, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Moser of Seattle, Washington, are at the Palm Beach Biltmore for a few days.

The Biltmore, with its 700 rooms, ranks as Florida's largest hotel.

TASTES AND TOILETTES

WITH the season well under way, many socially prominent personages are seen in this exclusive colony, who have been lured away from the chilly north, to spend carefree hours under the southern sun and to while away joyous hours in the mystic charm of the tropical moon and stars.

Knowing the thrill of the game and playing it well, sophisticates in the social whirl of Palm Beach, are noted for not only always being exquisitely gowned, whatever the occasion, but also for setting a number of the styles for the coming summer, for wherever they are seen, on the beach, on Worth Avenue during shopping hours, at tea, dining or dancing the clothes they wear are always the last word in smartness.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Gloria Baker, the season's most popular debutante, wore on the beach recently, a beach dress which most becomingly offset her dark beauty. It was of a figured material in dull green, yellow and white, fitted and flared, collarless and buttoned the entire length. Miss Baker also was the center of attraction when a group of friends on Worth Avenue, admired a tiny Boston Bull puppy which she carried in her arms. On this occasion the glamorous debutante wore a complete white sharkskin ensemble of slacks, shirt and accessories.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Princess Serge Mdivani recently shopped on Worth Avenue wearing a white sport suit with an angora sweater, short flared skirt and brown and white accessories.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Wiley Reynolds was exceedingly attractive when seen on Worth Avenue a short time ago, in an oriental sports costume consisting of loose black trousers over which she wore a cherry red mandarin coat.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. James Laurens Van Alen, always dainty looking, wore for shopping on Worth Avenue a few days ago, a daytime dress of powder blue, shirtmaker style, with white accessories, her hair held in place by a white fishnet scarf.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Jay J. O'Brien was seen at the Patio recently wearing a simple black crepe, with a low decolletage, a fitted jacket and no jewels.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. John J. Quinn, Jr., chose for the Patio, several evenings ago, a slimly molded gown of light clear blue, strikingly off set by a bolero solidly embroidered in iridescent sequins.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

For the opening of the Everglades Club Mrs. Hugh Dillman wore a simply fashioned white gown of satin, with a sumptuous cape of ermine.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. George Vanderbilt, who recently spent several weeks with Mr. Vanderbilt as the guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. Margaret Emerson, shopped on Worth Avenue in a becoming slack and shirt costume, of light blue sharkskin, the shirt with the conventional mannish collar and revers. With it she wore white accessories.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Margaret Emerson wore on Worth Avenue, shortly before her departure for New York, an ensemble of black slacks and halter, printed in small white figures, and a bolero of white linen faced with the print.

Mrs. Aksel Wichfeld wore for the opening of the Beach Club, a striking Persian printed sheer crepe evening gown, with the front V decolletage forming a halter in the back.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Maurice Fatio was seen shopping on Worth Avenue, wearing a colorful sports costume, consisting of a yellow tailored dress, three-quarter red jacket, with a red and yellow Persian printed pocket handkerchief, and red, yellow and blue sandals.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Wolcott Blair wore for shopping on Worth Avenue several days ago, dark blue colorfully figured slacks, with a belted dark blue slip-on sweater. Her accessories included a three-strand pearl necklace and red patent leather sandals.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. T. Dennie Boardman shopped on Worth Avenue recently, in navy slacks with a beige shirt, red belt, bag and sandals.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

On a shopping expedition on Worth Avenue, Mrs. J. William Y. Martin was attired in an attractive frock printed in small dots. There was a little plaited frill at the neckline and the scalloped belt was an unusual note.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Albert J. Davis was also glimpsed on Worth Avenue wearing an East Indian print with a one sided halter effect, which had a matching bolero. With this costume she wore a twisted rope of pearls and cork sandals.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Lady Astor, upon her arrival at The Breakers several weeks ago, wore a strictly tailored travelling suit of black, with a white blouse, black felt hat, and black accessories.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Princess Odescalchi, at the opening of the Society of the Four Arts chose a spectator sports dress of blue and white hand blocked linen. A matching hat of the material attractively completed the ensemble.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

For the same occasion, Mrs. Alfred G. Kay wore chalk white in spectator sports, with a large white straw hat, and a corsage of gardenias.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. William F. Bode, who is a guest at The Breakers, wore for dancing in the ball room recently, a handsome gown with a metallic sheen, the bodice having a cowl front neckline and a V decolletage in back. A pair of diamond clips caught the shoulder straps. With this costume, Mrs. Bode wore pearls and a silver fox scarf.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Clifford Smith was seen on Worth Avenue several days ago attired in one of the very new long skirted shirt-waist frocks in white, which also featured an attached monk's hood lined with a colorful print. The wide sash which tied in front was also of the print.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Walter Thompson for the first Tombola at the Everglades Club, wore one of the clever tag prints in black on a white ground, the blouse having the gathered bosom yoke which is a new note in fashions. Her accessories were black and white.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. J. Gordon Douglas wore for shopping recently on Worth Avenue, one of the "over and out" slack and shirt costumes so popular this season.

HOBBYING WITH MRS. DOBYNE

MRS. GEORGE A. DOBYNE is probably one of the most well-known women in the resort for her hobbies. Her love of life and her unfailing optimism is an inheritance from her English and Scotch ancestors who settled in Iowa and later moved to California where she was born. The wandering spirit is still in her veins as she likes the Frontier States, new places and the water appeals to her greatly not only for aquatic sports but also the life she lives with Mr. Dobyne on their Yacht, Coconut, where they spend the season. "I adore young people," says Mrs. Dobyne and because of this fact her best known hobby was started—the Romanies. Her love of music coupled with her desire to help young people and to fill a long-felt need in Palm Beach 11 years ago, gave her the idea of the Romanies. When this chorus was started there was no music in Palm Beach outside of the church choirs and the Society of Arts which was sponsored by Joseph Riter with only 100 tickets issued to each affair. Mr. John Charles Thomas, Mrs. Dobyne's son-in-law, was one of the artists brought South by the Society and after he sung here Mrs. Dobyne received so many letters from people wishing to have Mr. Thomas hear their voices that she inserted an advertisement in the paper for all those to come that wished an audition. The best voices were selected by Mr. Thomas and the Chorus started. The first group sang from place to place and because of their environment and the suggestiveness of this beautiful land of color, they became gypsies and designed their costumes in the most colorful fashion possible. The Chorus now sings light opera and gives skits of various kinds with action. They design and make their own scenery, arrange their stage productions and this year have an orchestra of 35 or 40 pieces. There is no family among the Romanies on relief, they help each other and any one applying who has musical talent and is unable to afford to develop their gifts are never turned away. There are close to 100 members now receiving musical training.

Every year the public sees a more pronounced improved development in the Romanies. This year Mrs. Dobyne is looking forward to presenting the orchestra in its first concert. Even she is amazed at the rapid progress made by this group, but her constant enthusiasm and pride in the organization gives them a most unfailing desire for success.

Mrs. Dobyne has a theory that if you give a child enough music you need never worry about him. She says, "I feel that the country loves to think of Palm Beach as a land of frivolity and not serious in any way, but I find it a very serious-minded community, very adaptable to all the better things in life and the desire seems to be prevalent to present to the people something that wasn't there before."

The lively social life of the winter colonist is thoroughly enjoyed by Mrs. Dobyne. Often numbered among her guests at the Everglades, Bath and Tennis and Gulf Stream Golf Clubs where she frequently entertains, are her houseguests, sometimes distinguished and outstanding persons in the art and professional worlds.

Friends entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Dobyne aboard their Yacht, unconsciously find another time-filling hobby of their charming hostess—preserving. At their farm, Ingleton-on-Miles" along the Chesapeake River in Maryland, they spend the summer raising vegetables, fruits, chickens and pigs and Mrs. Dobyne has made her hobby of preserving whole juicy red tomatoes, corn, pickles, apples, pears, berries and jellies into a science. On their trip South this year, Mrs. Dobyne declares she brought a ton of canned goods with her, The cured hams, sausages as well as fowls she serves come from the plantation and are a criterion of Palm Beach standards. This year "Cider," her smooth-haired For Terrier, is missing from the Coconut. He died last year in his twenty-first year, and since he has not been replaced, this is the first time Mrs. Dobyne has ever been without a dog. For many years she kept kennels of Police dogs and then Fox Terriers. Cider was the last to survive.

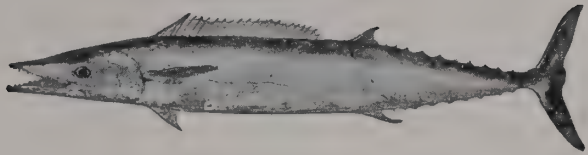

All of her hobbies demand a great deal of her time and energy, but through them all she is able to bring pleasure to her friends and radiate the happiness and love of life which is the keynote of her existence.

A rare person is she who in the midst of innumerable activities can unhesitatingly push aside personal matters to further the interests of others. Mrs. Dobyne does this, and what is more she remains enthused over life.

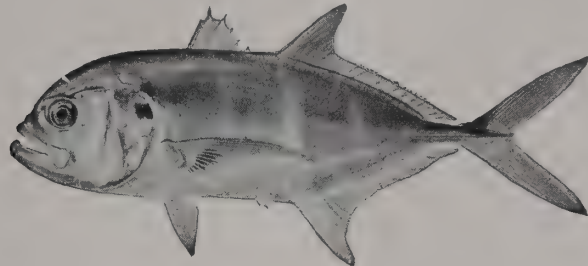

True it is when she says, "I just love the World, which includes the people in and the excitement of life."

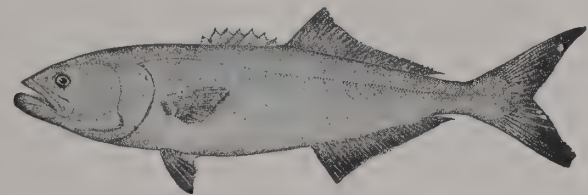

One of the hardest and fastest fighting game fish known, is the Wahoo, also called Pacific Kingfish, a larger member of the mackerel family, blue-black and silver with vertical stripes of purple. The Wahoo picks up the bait while trolling and gives the angler a run for his money.

Jack Crevalle, also known as Yellow Jack are found in abundance off-shore of Palm Beach and they give the angler a sturdy tussle remarkable for their size. Shaped like a pompano, they are yellow, olive and white with tints of blue on the side.

The fighting amberjack, known as the "bull-dog," of the sea is an old standby with resort fishing guides and is usually one of the first fish the visiting angler tries his skill with.

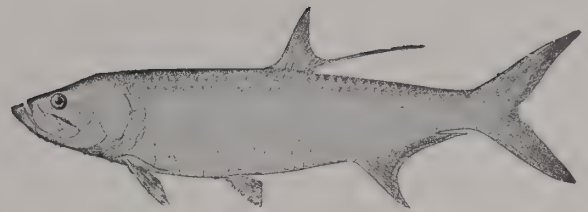

Favorite spot to find this fish off Palm Beach is at what is known as the "Amberjack Hotel," a deep reef a bit south of the Croker estate. Fishing skippers find their range from the shore, drop over a live blue runner for bait, and watch these pugnacious members of the Crevalle family rise and hit it. Then the fight is on.

"Tiger of the Sea," is the fitting appellation given to this streak of lightning in the form of a fish. Streamlined and speedy, the barracuda is one of the most vicious of salt water fish, striking at anything that moves. Its teeth are like double-edged swords and can slash a hooked fish in two with a single motion.

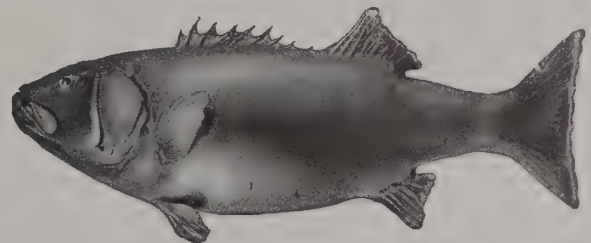

Seldom found in nearby waters but very numerous in the Florida Keys is the bonefish, usually found on shallow banks and bars. Caught on light tackle these fish put up a terrific fight, in frenzied efforts to get loose.

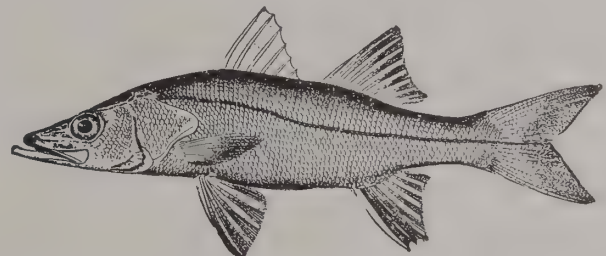

Tarpon occupy a place of primary importance in a description of game fish, for there is one argument which probably will never be settled and it centers around the question as to which is the most sport; landing a tarpon or a sailfish.

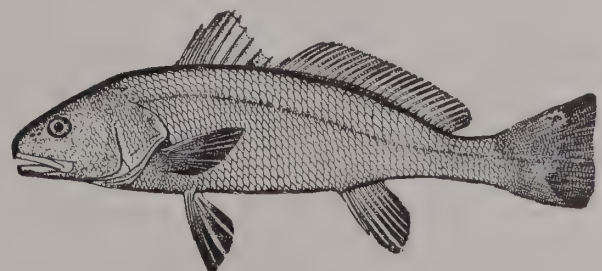

Both have their champions, but where the tarpon is found in bayous and protected waters just inside the shoreline, the sailfish is usually found in the open sea. The west coast of Florida claims the tarpon and it is most frequently found there, especially during the spring of the year, but actual record of the first tarpon caught in Florida was at Stuart, Fla., just north of Palm Beach. Known as the Silver King, it has bright, gleaming silver sides, which shade to green on the back.

Gaining mention because of its huge size, often running as heavy as 300 pounds, is the giant Jewfish, a strange relative of the sea bass family. Found on the bottom at reefs and around wrecks and wharves, this fish requires the heaviest tackle possible, and plenty of patience for a lengthy tug of war.

Snook, also known as robalo or sergeant fish give the angler a good fight on light tackle especially when they get up to about 30 or 40 pounds, and are caught principally in channels near sand-bars and near jetties and bridges. They have a silvery body with stripes running from head to tail and a protruding lower jaw.

Channel bass give real sport to the angler due to their long body and powerful and speedy action in the water and heavy fins and square tail. They are also called red drum or red fish, being bronze in color. They inhabit shallow water near sand bars and reefs.

MRS. M. DORLAND DOYLE AND HER FATHER, MR. CHARLES MUNN, ARE SHOWN AT "THE PATIO"

UNDER THE STARS

WHEN that bright Florida sun calls it a day and goes wherever it is that bright suns go at night . . . and the stars begin to twinkle over Palm Beach, with its Spanish Castles, Colonial Mansions, modernistic Beach-Houses and gleaming white yachts riding at anchor . . . and the tang of the sea-air blends with the insidious scent of jasmine to aid the moon in making us all a little mad . . . let's drop over to the Patio . . . where society has shed its inhibitions and allowed its reflexes to take over.

Past the uniformed starter at the entrance of the Patio . . . a hearty hand-shake from Sam Salvin, the Patio's famous impressario, and Doug Boyle . . . and we enter the palm-lined courtyard which opens to the star-lit sky. . . . Bonardi finds us a quiet table where we can watch society make merry unobtrusively . . . and we look around to get our bearings.

We are seated in a sheltered terrace which opens out to the dance-floor where the sky forms a canopy for many umbrella-topped tables . . . under which many of the smart set whom we have seen during the day, shopping on Worth Avenue, riding tandems down the lake trail and lying on the beaches, are holding gay little parties. Directly across the dance-floor from us Val Ernie and his orchestra are playing on a raised platform . . . and just behind us is the colorful cocktail-room, with an intriguing little bar and a flock of well-filled tables.

Under one of the gay colored umbrellas near the dancers we see Charles A. Munn and Mrs. Dorland Doyle, one of his dancing daughters . . . As they dance to Val Ernie's music they look as though they hadn't had so much fun since last summer's jaunt through France in their swank trailer. . . . Frances, another merry Munn, dances the evening away with Charles Amory . . . while Charles Munn, Jr., squires the lovely Grace Amory.

Clifford Smith leaves his wife with the Hogan girls at a ring-side table and climbs to the roof of the Patio so that he can get some flashlight shots of the dancers on the floor. . . . The Grover Loenings arrive at the Patio; having tethered their plane at Manana Point after their flight from Port Washington. . . . The J. Jay O'Briens breeze in with a party large enough to fill all of Jay's new houses in the former Garden of Eden. Mrs. William Randolph Hearst seems to be the guest of honor and Mrs. Wolcott Blair seems to be having the most fun; not missing a dance during the entire evening. Mr. Wolcott Blair, Captain and Mrs. R. Amcotts Wilson, Milton Holden, Rodman Wanamaker II, Captain Alastair Mackintosh, Mr. and Mrs. William Paley and John Fell are among the O'Brien guests.

Throwing a party in celebration of the completion of their brand new home on the ocean front in Palm Beach are the William R. Sweatts, who are "hosting" for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baxter Sweatt. Mr. Joseph Barker, Jane Barker, and Henry Lamberton Sweatt, , , , Ralph Beaver Strassburger is with the Hon. Wilfred Egerton, when the Hon. Egerton isn't applin' . . . Eddie Reeves enjoys corn on the cob at his table under the stars. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dulany Hunter and Edmund K. Sheedy are in his party.

Gloria Baker, who was with Mrs. Margaret Emerson, her mother; Horace Kelland, Mr. and Mrs. George Vanderbilt, Mrs. Arthur Somers Roche and Jeffry Roche . . . leaves her party and joins Val Ernie's orchestra, where she plays the piano with the band during several dance numbers (and a swell job she does too) . . . Prince Rospigliosi gathers the band around his table and serenades the Countess Di Zoppola with Neapolitan love songs . . . the Hon. Wilfred Egerton joins in with a gay group who have just started an impromptu Big Apple and amazes his friends by going the whole dance through without missing a number . . . Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen takes off his shoes when it comes his turn to "shine" during the Big Apple and goes to town with the hottest eccentric dance ever seen in Palm Beach. . . . The dancing Herbert Taylors put on a sparkling exhibition number . . . and toward morning Leonard Thomas, Jr., puts Lawrence Tibbetts to shame with a baritone solo that has even the band-boys applauding.

We hear Charlie Wright and his subtleties set to music and join in with the laughing crowd to demand encore after encore . . . Val Ernie and his orchestra seem to be "tetched" with magic and the crowd swarms back to the dance floor . . . where Pierre Barbey, Jr., Leonard Thomas, Jr., Bill Zeigler and Ed Sheedy are cutting in on most of the attractive girls at the Patio . . . John Sanford is dancing with his daughter, Mrs. Mario Pansa, whose marriage to the Italian Statesman was the highlight of the season at Palm Beach last year. . . .

Over in the cocktail room we see that the Frank Miller Goulds have left their fishing trophies and their sea-going yacht long enough to have fun at the Patio with the newly-wed John Y. William Martins. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Guernsey Curran, Sr., and the Juniors are seen in a family huddle off the beaten path . . . Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Johnson also get a table in a quiet nook and watch the fun . . . The Jack Rutherfurds dock their motorboats for the evening and join Mr. and Mrs. Russell Edson for dinner and dancing . . . How those Legendre boys can dance! There go Sidney and his brunette wife and Morris ankling it with Lillian Feitner. Many of the diners stop chatting to watch both couples do the Rhumba.

Mrs. Dodge Sloane and her party form a horse-shoe circle around her favorite table just north of the dance floor, where she and her guests spend the next thirty minutes answering greetings from neighboring tables. Mrs. Baldwin Day Spilman, Miss Louise Iselin, Thomas Evans and Morris Legendre join Mrs. Sloane's party . . . Franklin Laws Hutton is "Patioing" with his wife, Irene Hutton, and that's a gorgeous mink cape the lady is wearing. . . . Robert Bacon, Jr., —with an eggnog joins the Jay F. Carlises and Mrs. George Atwell, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Carlisle dance by their table and promise to stop on the next round to join them in a quick one . . . The Howell Van Gerbiggs are with the Laurence (Chip) Roberts far from the dancing throng. Chip seems to be telling one of his famous Washington yarns judging from the chuckles in his audience . . . Mrs. Frances Taylor chaperones Senator and Mrs. William Gibbs McAdoo through an evening at the Patio . . . Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy and her father and mother, the John Fitzgeralds, make up another family party. John and Rosemary, two of the Kennedy youngsters join the party but spend most of the evening on the dance floor . . . J. A. Peter Strassburger wangles a table close to the dance floor even though space is at a premium. With young Strassburger are John Vietor, Jr., Audrey Phipps, and Sonia Phipps . . . Mrs. Joseph (Kim) Moran brings her entire house party from her beach party . . . Charles Francis (Socker) Coe, sidesteps a waiter on the way to the cocktail room . . . Col. and Mrs. Wade Carpenter dine and dance alone . . . Thomas Morrison Carnegie, Jr., and Mrs. C. Byron Sloane are guests of Stanley Gensler . . . Mrs. Arthur Hudson Marks and Prince Michael Goundoroff show their friends how the tango should be done.

A too-sudden change of climate may cancel many of the benefits of your Southern visit. Better stop off here in this beautiful, mild, invigorating long-leaf-pine country and get yourself set for tough weather ahead.

Sports? They are all here and at their best. Polo, Skeet, Tennis, Fox Hunting, Riding, Golf on three 18-hole courses with grass greens and "picture" fairways. Pinehurst's social life is famous.

There's nothing like GAS for

BROILING

Gas gives you the intense heat needed to brown meats so fast that loss of juices is prevented. Full flavor is saved.

ROASTING

Gas gives you the oven ventilation which produces crisp, juicy roasts. Excess moisture is allowed to escape, preventing that flat "steamed flavor."

BAKING

Baking requires even heat throughout the oven and unlimited range of baking temperatures, for light, evenly browned cakes, pies, breads. Gas gives both!

FRYING

Perfect, speedy frying requires instant high heat—even spread of heat under the skillet—numberless heat variations. Gas gives all three!

BOILING

Faster! Gas brings foods to a boil in  $\frac{2}{3}$  the time or less of other fuels. More flexible, it gives you the exact shades of heat you need.

Luxury Unlimited...

WE call this lordly Series 90 Buick the LIMITED, but you will find it a car of decidedly unlimited satisfactions.

In spite of its size and bulk, its mighty DYNAFLASH engine can flash it from ten to sixty miles an hour in 18.3 seconds.

To the deep comfort of its spacious interiors has been added the unapproached smooth safety of the TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING ride.

And such is the feather-lightness of its handling that your own hands ache to drive it whenever you're a passenger.

Our judgment is that this great car is unequalled elsewhere within a thousand dollars of its price. We would be glad to have you check that judgment with your own.

The Buick LIMITED is available in three body styles and is priced at $2176 to $2453, complete, delivered at Flint, Mich. Model illustrated is the LIMITED six-passenger Touring Sedan $2176 delivered at Flint. Fenderwells and special accessories, local taxes if any and transportation extra.

An Invitation TO DRIVE THE WORLD'S FINEST MOTOR CAR

You would expect of the new Cadillac Sixteen a type of road mastery beyond anything previously known to the automotive industry. But, expecting all this, you will still be surprised when you take the wheel. The new V-16 engine, with its cylinders pitched at a hundred and thirty-five degrees, is a revelation in smoothness, acceleration and speed. And the car's balance and handling ease are equally sensational. There is nothing like it—anywhere else in the world. And remember—the new Sixteen is priced in the range of the twelve-cylinder cars. Why not see it today?

"Hands across the

"American or British, my fellow guests at the British Colonial are altogether charming people." It is true of Nassau in general and of this famous hotel in particular, that you will like the people you meet here. Indeed, that particular attraction of Nassau and the British Colonial is as often talked about as are the charms of the island and the comforts of the hotel. Add to it a friendly sun, brilliant facilities for vacation living, the fascinations of a colonial capital, and Nassau's nearness (overnight from Miami by ship; two hours via daily airliner; fast steamers from northern ports), and you will have a number of good reasons for choosing the British Colonial this winter season.

For information, telephone the Miami office at 4-1661—or consult any travel agent.

HAVANA

THE present is easy enough to keep up with on this island; it is the future that is apt to slip by unnoticed.

No sooner had members of the local colony wound up preparations for entertaining the younger set returning home from school, than the fanfare accompanying the opening at Oriental Park burst about their ears as planes and steamships began disgorging the greatest influx of visitors in recent seasons.

As in past years, much of the sports and social life of Havana is centered around the twin-peaked National, towering resort hotel which serves as a Cuban landmark a distance of many miles at sea. The National is the scene of many of the Cuban capital's most colorful affairs. Long a yardstick of Cuban activity, the hotel's heavy advance bookings pre-sage one of the gayest seasons in the island's history.

Like Manhattan, Havana has her "Cafe Society" that revolves against a background of waving palms and tropical night, to the accompaniment of insidious Cuban rhythms. Indeed, many faces familiar to the East Fifties are to be seen throughout the season in glamorous open-air settings at the famous Sans Souci, National Casino and the dancing terrace of the Hotel National.

During the past few weeks such well-known Gothamites as Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Wertheimer, Mr. and Mrs. George Grant Mason, Jr., the E. Kenneth Hoyts and Mr. John Haber have been regular visitors to the Jockey Club at Oriental Park and the International polo matches.

A social merry-go-round that never seems to break down revolves around sportsman Frank Steinhart, Jr., and his attractive wife, who are the leading lights in a year-round social whirl that draws its members from the ranks of the resident American colony and their many visiting friends.

Typical of the affairs sponsored by this popular couple was the recent reception celebrating their fifteenth wedding anniversary, given at 'Happy Hollow,' their beautiful San Francisco de Paula residence. Among the guests present were: U. S. Ambassador J. Butler Wright and Mrs. Wright, their attractive daughters, Miss Mary Wright and Miss Edith Wright; Mr. Willard Beaulac, first secretary of the American Legation, and Mrs. Beaulac; Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Lawton, of the American Embassy; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Miller, of the American Embassy; Major E. W. Timberlake, American Military Attache, and Mrs. Timberlake.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney O'Donoghue, of the American Embassy; Mr. Luis Luti, charge d'affaires of the Argentine Legation, and Mrs. Luti; Dr. and Mrs. Mario Lazo, Mrs. Louise Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Conroy, Mr. and Mrs. John Duys, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. G. Grant Mason, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Brownson, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ford, Mr. and Mrs. John Griswold, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Steward, Mr. and Mrs. George Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Salmon, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lang, Major Leslie Freland, Mr. Charles Walker, Miss Mary White, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Brandon, Mr. and Mrs. Charlton Wallace, The Marquess de Tiedra, Count and Countess de Romero.

Under the management of Lou Smith, of Rockingham Park, the newly renovated racing establishment at Oriental Park has been remarkably successful. This is the first major race meeting in Cuba since 1932-33, and the introduction of such innovations as the Bahr starting gate, photo-finishes and pari-mutuel wagering, in addition to extensive alterations on the oval itself, have proven a great attraction for visitors.

The race meeting will continue till March 15. Large stake races will shortly be held, including the National Hotel Stakes. In addition, a new dog track, costing $250,000, is rapidly nearing completion under the direction of Russel Murray of Wonderland Park, Revere's track at Boston. Scheduled to open in February the new track is located between the Havana Yacht Club and La Playa Bathing Beach.

Although membership in Havana's social life is drawn from the international set, there is a well-organized circle in the resident American colony which follows the pace set by the local diplomatic corps.

Ambassador and Mrs. J. Butler Wright join wholeheartedly in the traditional pleasure-loving atmosphere of the island. Both are enthusiastic sports fans, and they often entertain lavishly in their Vedado home.

Cuba's famed night life is, of course, the island's pride. But it really didn't get under way until the Casino National blossomed forth with a new blue motif that is calculated to match the mood of the merrymakers who toss their chip on the polished gaming tables and return to their dancing. This year the management has imported Dario and Diane from New York's Cafe Versailles and the Rainbow Room, to send the customers into raptures of envy with their skilled gliding across the gleaming floor.

William B. Leeds was the forerunner of the yachting crowd when he sailed his new cruiser, 'Moana,' into Havana Harbor after a voyage from California through Panama. With Mr. Leeds on board his spacious new boat were Mrs. Leeds, Susanna del Rio, of Mexico, Frank Hennessey and Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Dresser of Hot Springs, Virginia.

Close on his heels come Mr. W. L. Mellon, nephew of the late Secretary of The Treasury, and Mrs. Mellon, on board their famous black yacht "Vagabondia." Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., are traveling with the Mellons.

Havana, the perfect setting for conventions, has played host to many outstanding organizations during the season, but the largest this year was that of the Union Central Life Insurance Company, with 350 delegates. It was held at the National Hotel. Their $500,000 and $250,000 groups held intensive sessions each day. They were followed by dinner dances with entertainment under the stars on the National's dancing terrace. Visits were made to Oriental Park, the National Casino and other points of interest.

One of the major gatherings of the year was the Pan American Medical Congress, which was held at the National Hotel from Jan. 18th to 23rd. Prominent doctors from all over the Americas were in attendance.

The first international polo matches drew good crowds. The team of the 124th Field Artillery Polo Club of Chicago played the Cuban Army team for a trophy donated by President Federico Laredo Bru. Although Major Leslie R. Ireland, playing at first position for the visitors, was injured in the first game, it didn't prevent the Americans from winning. The Cuban government hopes to make this an annual event.

The Chicagoans: Lt. William Fergus, Lt. Steven Hammond and Major Ireland, were captained by Leon Mandel. They were guests at the National Hotel.

Sports prospects are looking up, for the twelfth International Star Class Regatta, in which many American yachts will participate, opens on January 28th.

COTTAGE COLONY SOCIETY LIFE

SOcially speaking, the Palm Beach colony has at last found its stride and for the next few weeks the resort's smart set will be practically living from one gay party to another. For various reasons fewer titled visitors are indicated for Palm Beach this season but there will by no means be a dearth. Already the society scribes have been harassed by names difficult to spell and even harder to pronounce—and certain of the larger villas can again be counted upon to entertain their quota of titled celebrities.

On the other hand—the Anglo-American colony here is larger this season than in recent years; conservative Newporters will be far more numerous, and a gratifying number Worswicks were former guests at The Breakers and during their frequent visits to the resort made many close friends.

When Mrs. Margaret Emerson left for a world cruise early this month she deprived the resort of a certain amount of gayety and glamour. Her home was the setting for a continuous round of early season parties, and her beautiful debutante daughter, Miss Gloria Baker, is missed at all Palm Beach First nights. However the villa on Banyan Road is now occupied by the Philip Hills of London, who arrived in Palm Beach with a complete house party. Their guests were Dr. Francis Xavier Mayr of Vienna, famous Carlsbad specialist; Mrs. Kenneth Milln, and Robert Sweeny, Jr., British amateur golf champion. Mrs. Hill is herself one of Britain's outstanding golfers and a few years ago while visiting here, won the Florida Woman's Golf Championship.

Mrs. Emerson sailed on the Franconia with her daughter and a party including, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas W. Paige and Mrs. Arthur Somers Roche, and is not expected here until very late in the season. Their itinerary will include a visit in Honolulu, where Mrs. Emerson's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Vanderbilt, will receive them in their new home.

After spending many years on the continent, the Marquis and Marquesa George de Cuevas have come to Palm Beach for the winter season and are established at the David Hugh McCulloch villa on El Brillo Way. The Marquesa was the former Margaret Strong, granddaughter of the late John D. Rockefeller, and principal heir to his personal fortune. Her cousin is Mrs. Elisha Dyer Hubbard, who is also occupying her Palm Beach home.

Also welcome additions to the cottage colony are Mr. and Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs of New York, who are occupying Louwana, the Gurnee Munn villa, for their first season here in some time. They are prominently identified with society at Newport, where they stayed for several weeks last summer before sailing on their customary autumn voyage to Europe. Prince Rospigliosi joined them here at Louwana after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Francis Taylor at Lake View cottage. The Taylors returned to New York last week after passing several weeks here.

The Count and Countess de Kotzebue are with us this year and are established at Glan-Y-Mor on the Ocean Boulevard. They arrived here following the marriage of her niece, Miss Lucy Tew and Prince Georges Dadiani, which took place in New York on December 8th. The Kotzebues are prominent figures in international society and have maintained homes in Paris and at exclusive continental watering places for many years. Countess Kotzebue was the former Princess of Reuss.

When the Luis de las Rivases leave in February for a Mexican jaunt, their attractive home on Tangier Road will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Norman, Jr., of New York and Bridge House, Newport, R. I., whose social prestige will entitle them to a hearty welcome from the Palm Beach smart set.

Social activities in the resort have been enlivened this season by several interesting house parties. Down at Hypo-luxo where Colonel and Madame Louis Jacques Balsan are sole possessors of an island domain, they have entertained for many distinguished visitors. Among them was the Honorable Sir Philip Sassoon of London, former private secretary to Field Marshall Sir Douglas Haig, Commander-in-Chief of of Hamptonites have already taken up winter residence in Palm Beach.

The construction of more than sixty new houses since last season has established Palm Beach as a resort of beautiful homes. Former house guests have become householders and before the winter is over many more will have succumbed to the desire for one of the little white houses with a balcony.

The question of who was going to occupy the handsome new Georgian villa on the South Ocean Boulevard, was answered a few weeks ago when the Albert E. Worswicks of Carlton Gardens, London, arrived to take possession. The the British armies in France, and parliamentary secretary to Mr. Lloyd George. Another guest there was the Vicomte Sosthenes de la Rochefoucauld of Paris. Whether Madame Balsan's son and daughter-in-law, the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough will come to Palm Beach this year is still undecided, but it is to be hoped that they will find it possible to be here if only for a brief visit.

Charles A. Munn has been host at Amado to the Honorable Charles Winn, an annual Palm Beach visitor; the Marquis de Polignac, Mrs. Jean Cochran Atwell, Miguel de Braganza, son of Princess de Braganza, and many others. The Marquis left last week for Havana but will return to the resort later in the season.

Lord Stanley of London, eldest son of the Seventeenth Earl of Derby of Knowsley Hall, Prescott, Lancashire, and Derby House, London, is expected here soon to join the house party at Amado. Lady Stanley, who visited here last season is the daughter of the late Viscount Chelsea, and a sister of the Duchess of Marlborough and Lady de Trafford.

Joseph E. Widener, well known sportsman and patron of the arts, arrived here a fortnight ago with Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. B. Widener II. His guests have been Mr. Henry Hunloke and Lady Anne Hunloke, and Captain Cecil Boyd-Rochfort. Since the opening of Hialeah, Mr. Widener and his house party have been commuting from Palm Beach to Miami and back, almost every day.

The Robert D. Huntingtons were early arrivals in the resort and have had on their guest list Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Cushing, Mr. and Mrs. T. Suffern Tailer and Mrs. Moffett Carlisle; the latter having first visited at the Everglades Club.

Mrs. Baldwin D. Spilman, one of the resort's most popular hostesses, has had among her guests this season, Mrs. Christopher Dunphy, Mr. and Mrs. Amory S. Carhart of New York and Fishers Island, and Mr. Williamson Howe of Philadelphia, all of whom have been extensively entertained during their visit here.

Jules S. Bache, who arrived here last week to occupy La Colmena, brought with him as his guests, Sir William Max-Muller, former British Minister to Poland and Counsel-General at Budapest, Lady Max-Muller, and Count and Countess Willamez of France. Mr. Bache's granddaughters, the Misses Muriel and Dorothy Richards, are expected here soon to join him. The engagement of the former to Mr. Francis Warren Pershing, son of General John J. Pershing, was recently announced and it is expected that their wedding will take place here in the late season.

Viscount Arthur Forbes, son of the Earl and Countess of Granard of London, passed a few days here this season with his aunt, Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phipps and Mr. Phipps at Heamaw. Lord Forbes is an aviation and speed boat enthusiast and has competed frequently in international speed boat races in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Paley, who on several occasions last season were forced to cancel their proposed visits to Palm Beach, arrived early this season to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Jay O'Brien at Villa del Sarmiento. Mr. Paley is president of the Columbia Broadcasting system. Other guests at the O'Brien villa have been Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bayard Swope, Miss Florence Owen and George J. Atwell, Jr.

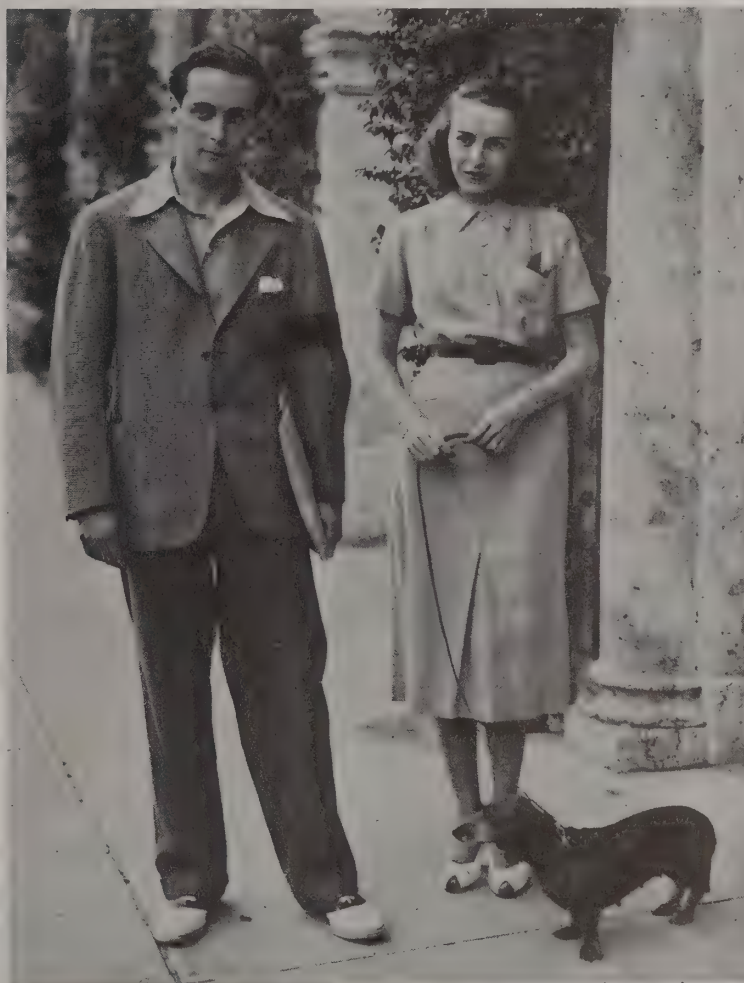

Mrs. Walter P. Jacobs of Chalewood, Syosset, L. I., is with Mr. and Mrs. Grover Loening at Manana Point, where Mrs. Loening's sister, Miss Anne Robeson Truesdale, has also been visiting. Miss Truesdale is one of society's most popular debutantes who was presented to society this summer out on Long Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Eppley, conservative members of the Newport set, have returned to the resort to spend the season. Their summer home is Beacon Rock, in the fashionable Rhode Island resort.

Mr. and Mrs. Messmore Kendall have moved into their new Palm Beach villa, where they have already entertained at several dinner parties. Mr. Gustave H. Rainville, a former member of the cottage colony, is with them for a visit. The former Kendall villa was purchased by Colonel Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, and Mrs. McCormick, who are already occupying their new home.

SANDS OF TIME AND FASHION

THE hourglass has spilled its contents to form a beach—a long gleaming gold rim around the blue crook of the Atlantic. Bright figures in gay colors bedeck the sands—figures clad in fibres once known only as luxury and worn only by kings. It seems strange to realize that these fibres too were only worn on state occasions; that they were the “Sunday” best of dark skinned princesses. Today these royal threads are inextricably bound up with our everyday life. They are certainly an important part of our American sport scene.

There's cotton, for instance, which comes to these shores by way of distant India. The fabulous Marco Polo says of Mosul that “here are the finest cottons to be met with anywhere.” He tells of the poetic names given these “muslins”—“Woven Air,” “Running Water,” and “Evening Dew,”—“Mull,” which comes from the Indian words Mul Mul Khas—the “Mull of kings.” Now, take a look at the beach today... there's a sinuous gypsy affair, designed by Marjorie Montgomery... a “bra” top and shorts, with a full gathered skirt which can be worn over the shorts... or the shoulders, depending upon how the sun strikes. It's hand blocked pattern of wavy bands of color... off-shades in wine, chartruese and grey... run horizontally or “Bayadere,” that new fashion word which means “stripes from selvedge to selvedge,” It's a cotton pique, a far cry from the ancient kings of India, but fit for an American princess. A real American garden print cotton in a smart Cabana ensemble has a long sleeveless beach coat with a practical well-cut bathing suit of the same pique. “How does your Garden grow?” might well be the name of this outfit, for its small colorful cottage flowers grow in charming rows and rows!

Linen is another fashion fibre of ancient and honorable lineage. Egyptian legend has it that flax was the first thing the gods created to enable them to clothe themselves. There are many hymns of praise to the flax plant, and ancient pictures of weavers at work still exist.

The finest linen yarn came from the Sudan and was in great demand by the rest of Asia. One of the highest offices under the Pharaohs was that of Director of the Kings Flax.

The Egyptians revered snow white linen so much that it was not until the Eleventh Dynasty that color was introduced, first very cautiously as a dark blue or red stripe. The Chaldeans and Assyrians, however, were passionately fond of elaborate dress and produced rich geometric designs in vivid colors.

Neither Chaldean nor Phoenician is the “Little Apple”... a McMullen shirt frock made of classic linen. This “Little Apple” to delight the eye is one of those “finds”... a simple, soft tailored daytime dress, appropriate for any occasion. It is a single color print of a smart tiny apple... and you may have it in the newest of colors... a soft gray taupe. It comes also in moss rose, a flattering yellowish pink; brachen, a light reddish brown; cornflower blue, perfect for violet eyes; or blue spruce, a muted blue green.

Marjorie Montgomery, the California designer, presents linen of another type. She uses a bold hand-blocked Peruvian stripe in a decisive green or red-brown, with the broad stripe worked “bayadere” or horizontally. Soft drapery over the bust, a smart stand-up collar and raffia buckle on the belt distinguish this spectator sports costume.

BUT THIS ISN'T ALL . . .

AS THE merry-go-round goes round and round and we dash from one place to another in our mad chase for excitement and thrills we pause a moment to pay tribute to that grand lady, Maud Howe Elliott . . . Mrs. Elliott is very well-known in Palm Beach and need no introduction to you, both as the daughter of Julia Ward Howe, and the wife of the late John Elliott, American artist, and last, but not least in importance as a writer herself of great distinction . . . Now, however, she has achieved new laurels as the author of "Uncle Sam Ward and His Circle," which we heard her give excerpts from the other day at the Society of the Four Arts . . . at any rate, we caught our breath a wee bit as she appeared on the platform that day, recalling to us the long line of distinguished predecessors, and now her own glory. . . .

Bird's eye views:

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hammerstein (Dorothy Dalton) placidly sipping sodas at a local fountain . . . A verree, verree important visitor from London losing his equilibrium at a recent opening and sliding not gracefully on the floor . . . but it wasn't caused by what you'd think . . . it was just a misstep while doing the Big Apple! . . .

Mrs. Andreas Iverson of The Breakers looking very cute indeed in bright canary tailored slacks while bicycling toward County Road . . .

Mrs. Harold Phillips, also guest at The Breakers, carrying a petit pup, which was the most friendly little canine we've seen for ages. . . .

Revealing some sort of intelligence: a smart grackle drinking daintily from a ground spigot off County Road even tho' he almost broke his neck obtaining the position of letting the stream of water trickle down his throat.

Kim Moran dashing into tea at Cocoanut Grove wearing a smooth looking full-length leather coat of yellow-tan. . . .

Johnny Farrell the golfer, dropping into the Beach Club for a hasty 'hello' while on a brief jaunt from Hollywood. . . .

Helen Keller, famed author and lecturer and glimmering hope for millions of blind and deaf, dining with friends in the resort and avoiding the newshawks because of her great need for rest and quiet. . . .

Sonia Phipps and Peter Strassburger at the Bath and Tennis, at The Patio, and most everywhere, proving that they're probably the most consistent twosome among the younger set these days. . . .

Speaking of lounge or beach costumes we like the variety of smart beach slacks and jerseys worn by Mrs. Alfred Feltman. . . . all of them are very individual and vary as to color combination and material. . . .

We've had two very gala opening of late . . . Whitehall and the Palm Beach Biltmore . . . especially sumptuous were the floor shows for both events while the ladies' souvenirs were the last word in elegance. . . .

The word "society" has always intrigued us . . . so getting very curious the other day we looked into the good old reliable Webster . . . lo, the word is practically synonymous with fellowship, whereupon some one asked us to define American society . . . we left it to some one else who cagily decided that American "society was the fusion of the gold veins with the blue" . . . we'd welcome your definition and if you have any contributions they'd be most welcome altho' we warn you that American society is a most complex arrangement as far as we're concerned. . . .

Contemporary Comment:—

We see that a preacher up in Memphis is undertaking a self-imposed fast to prove that man can live by spiritual food alone. . . . maybe it's possible, but think what a lot of fun man would miss and whatta lot of chatter the ladies would need to fill in the conversational gaps that diet usually fills!

A new star has been discovered which is 3000 times larger than the sun according to Dr. Otto Struve of the University of Chicago's Yerkes Observatory and should be the coolest of all stars . . . that should be most encouraging on some of these warm tropical nights, especially as the new luminary is only some 3000 light years away from the earth!

Up in Canton, Ohio, a seventy-two-year-old man has applied for membership in the Boy Scouts . . . whereupon we are thinking that it would do the world some good if a few of the other old boys, especially abroad, forgot about the bombs and machine guns for a few months and tried building their own campfires instead of pouring water on the other fellow's!

The weekly Tombola at the Everglades Club draws hundreds of the fairer sex who are especially keen on learning the latest from Dame Fashion. . . .

As we go to the linotype, in the midst of all this praise Allah-ing and "shining" which is going on at The Patio, at The Breakers, at Whitehall, at The Biltmore, and most everywhere else we can think of, we offer our own allahs, for such diversions in Palm Beach, (if you really are searching for something different to do) as: taking a ride across the Lake on the ferry some Sunday noon when it is very populated . . . or go over to one of the local spots along the shore from whence people fish and write a book about those you meet . . . or visit the trailer camp on your way to Delray. . . .

THE PALM BEACH BILTMORE OPENING

WITH an impressive floor show as part of the evening's festivities, and a gay cocktail party in the new Crystal Cascades Bar during the afternoon, the Palm Beach Biltmore formally opened Saturday.

An event that will go into Palm Beach history as the brightest party of the year, the Noche De Gala at Muleteer Grill Saturday featured a floor show noted for its world famous entertainers.

The Muleteer Grill, since its first opening, a gathering place for the exclusive social set of Palm Beach, resembled a Mardi Gras carnival Saturday night as guests donned souvenir hats, played with noise makers, and danced among showers of confetti and colorful paper streamers.

Opening on two sides onto flower-bordered terraces, the Muleteer Grill is a veritable Babylon and Versailles at Palm Beach. Sunset and sunrise effects in lights played on guests as they danced in the Grill, which, with its moss-covered walls, might be a cellar in an old Moorish castle. The atmosphere in this newest rendezvous of the resort's smart set, is gracious and intimate.

Maximillian Bergere and his Palm Beach orchestra, who are to appear here nightly, made their formal bow to the members of the winter colony. Mr. Bergere, who has played at the Stork Club and the Versailles in New York, came here from the Miami-Biltmore.

Alexander Gray, singing star of the stage, screen and radio, was master of ceremonies. Best remembered as "The Red Shadow" in "The Desert Song," Mr. Gray sang several numbers from the musical successes in which he appeared.

The Crystal Cascade Bar, which adds a glittering and modernistic touch to the hotel, drew a gay crowd of winter resorters during the afternoon. Probably the most beautiful bar in Palm Beach, the entire room is paneled in mirrors, while the curving bar and decorations are of heavy crystal.

The opening of the Palm Beach Biltmore has revived interest in the beautiful trail following the borders of the lake, which in the early days of this resort, was a famous promenade. It has never been widened or changed and even today only wheel chairs, bicycles and pedestrians may follow the narrow walk cut through heavy tropical growth.

THE AFROMOBILE

DATING from the days of parasols, fashionable fairs, elongated coat tails, and multiplicity of petticoats to our own present care free modern and streamline achievements are the picturesque wheel chairs found going their unhurried way along the streets and boulevards of Palm Beach.

These horseless carriages were first used here in the form of the jinrikisha, one-seated and drawn by a man on foot. This was invented in Japan by an American Missionary named Goble. This form of transportation proved to be very unsatisfactory to both the runner and the occupants. The exercise was somewhat strenuous for the runner and complaint was made by the occupants of the not-so-pretty spectacle of sweat and toil they were forced to observe as not being exactly in keeping with the scenery or the spirit of holiday sight seers. To remedy these defects Mr. J. T. Havens and Mr. H. G. Wheeler worked together to create the wheel chair with the pedalist in front. This reduced some of the most strenuous exercise but there still remained an obstruction to the view of the charges and did not entirely eliminate nostril disturbances.

In 1903 a wheel chair as we know it today, with the cyclist in rear, was made for Mr. Henry Flagler, Florida's great benefactor. Mr. Havens patented it although at the time he didn't recognize any commercial value to it. However, Mr. Flagler liked it so much that he ordered six more. There immediately arose such a demand for these "afromobiles" that a factory was set up at Asbury Park, N. J., to supply Palm Beach and Atlantic City. About 6700 were built and there were as many as 650 here in Palm Beach at one time.

Some chairs are hand made in Palm Beach and many are as good as new at twenty-five years of age. Here is one vehicle with no worry about yearly models. The castings are all made in Newark, N. J., the rattan used comes from India, the frames are made of bamboo and the latest type chairs have all bearing wheels.

Mr. Havens and one of our old pioneers, Mr. H. M. Hammon promoted the wheel chairs in Palm Beach to such an extent that many virgin trails were blazed with alligator farms and ostrich farms along the way or at the end of a trail for the amusement and entertainment of the guests. There weren't so many places to go then, or so many things to see as there are today in beautiful Palm Beach, so this resulted in a thriving business and became the principal diversion for society.

The distinguished American actor Joseph Jefferson, who is probably most famous for his dramatization of Irving's immortal Rip Van Winkle, was the first to ride in our pedaled carriages. Mr. Jefferson loved Palm Beach and found pleasurable diversion in the waters of the St. Lucie and Indian Rivers north of here.

Another factor contributing to the popularity and success of the wheel chair is the fact that in the early days no cars, carriages, or horses were allowed in exclusive Palm Beach. The only means of travel were bicycles and horseless carriages propelled by a motor with a smiling charcoal face. Delivery trucks were in the form of push carts. Imagine the size of that 100 pounds of ice by noon!

Palm Beach today is the haven of the bicycle and wheel chair. In other parts of the world the "cycles" have depreciated in popular esteem until they are little more than a conveyer of telegraph boys and a means for the removal of skin from children's knees. But in Palm Beach they have the honor of being chariots of wealth and beauty. Broad and flawless sidewalks are even reserved for them, pedestrians proceeding at their own risk.

Many old inhabitants claim that wheel chair riding is excellent for the liver and devote at least two hours to it every afternoon. The negro chair chauffeurs drive the chair along by vigorous pedaling and the alternate leg stroke gives the chair a gentle side to side motion which acts as a mild massage on the occupant. Two hours of such exercise is considered just about enough by the conservatives of Palm Beach.

The chair-chauffeurs, in addition to possessing tireless legs, are usually supplied with a vast fund of knowledge and prove to be the occupants guide, philosopher, and friend. So the chauffeur finds it very valuable to be fairly familiar with Palm Beach Estates and to have a comprehensive grasp of the flora and fauna of the south and to be conversant with all financial and social matters pertaining to the old and young. They also have found that a frankness of their own peculiar philosophy on men and things in general will arouse the interest and possibly stimulate the generosity of their charges.

Perhaps the days when Willie and Harry Payne Whitney or H. E. Dodge commandeered the whole fleet for an afternoon or a day are gone, but it is still news, for not long ago Pathe News took many interesting shots of these unique carriages in their exquisite southern setting.

Today's wheel chairs are both privately owned and incorporated with the hotels from which they operate. Barring squally weather, what better way to more completely absorb the beauty of the tropics than a smooth silent ride under the stars or sunlight!

Movie camera, airplane, automobile, wheel chair! The new and the old merge harmoniously into one picture!

ANGLERS AND YACHTSMEN

FOURTH Annual Silver Sailfish Derby sponsored by the West Palm Beach Fishing Club which started last Sunday, is occupying the attention of practically all the resort anglers and many more who are assembled here from all parts of the world to try their skill at landing the biggest, the heaviest or the biggest and heaviest sailfish on or before February 14.

This annual event has been a great success ever since its inception in 1935 and has definitely established the Palm Beaches and the fishing grounds nearby as the acknowledged sailfish capital of the world.

Winner of the largest sailfish by length has his name inscribed on the Silver Sailfish Trophy, perpetual award presented by Mrs. Henry R. Rea and is given a replica in miniature.

Other prizes include the E. R. Bradley Trophy, presented to the entrant with largest sailfish by weight; the Dorst Trophy, presented to the entrant with the sailfish scoring the highest number of points by length and weight; the Pfleuger Trophy, given for largest sailfish by length caught on light tackle; the Frederick D. Edsall Award, presented to Captain of the boat having released the largest number of sailfish during the Derby and a daily award given to entrant with largest sailfish by length during each day of the Derby.

Private craft taking part in the Derby include, Edorea IV, owned by Mr. Henry Oliver Rea; Lamica, Mr. Joseph Caldwell; Jim's, Mr. Charles E. Merrill; Bego III, Mr. G. W. Gieseke; Buddy B., Mr. Joseph Simousky; Marjac, Mr. C. Easman Jacobus; Erminna, Mr. W. B. Jarvis; White Flash, Mr. Frederick Housman; Tesdam, Mr. Walter W. Foskett; Donna, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dolcater; Skal, Mr. O. W. Johnson; Meskit, Mr. Messmore Kendall; Skip Along, Mr. Edgar G. Hamilton; Sans Souci, Mr. Edwin G. Kirby Tompkins; No News, Mr. Don Morris.

Much activity is being noted at the famous Sailfish Club of Florida this season with a large number of member's craft being quartered there and some fine catches being reported.

Many members and guests are spending the late afternoon at the clubhouse enjoying the cocktail hour, when the sportsmen gather to discuss the catch of the day. On off days, bridge is very popular, as well as dancing in The Patio adjacent to the Palm Garden.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pierson Hamilton of Bar Harbor,

Maine, who are guests at The Breakers, have been enjoying a number of fishing expeditions aboard their new cruiser, Bettina. Mr. Hamilton brought in two sailfish, the largest measuring 7 feet, 10 inches, and the other a few inches shorter. His fifty-five foot cruiser is being outfitted for a lengthy trip to the Bahamas.

Mr. Elmer Rich and Mr. H. W. Bishop have made several trips out after the big ones on Mr. Rich's cruiser, the Idle Hour. Fishing aboard the Reveller, Mr. Grover Loening and Captain Cecil Boyd Rochfort of England caught many kingfish.

Col. Robert R. McCormick of Chicago was host to a group of friends aboard his cruiser Catine. A large catch of kingfish and dolphin were reported by the party which included, Mr. Edward S. Beck of Chicago, Mr. Marvin Hewit of Chicago and Palm Beach, Mr. Harry Clifford and Mr. Bert Price of Elgin, Ill. Boats arriving at the club dock for the season, include: Mr. H. H. Windsor's Apache; Mr. and Mrs. Windsor and two sons arrived for the season from Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jacobus of Montclair, N. J., have taken a house at Delray for the season. Mr. Jacobus arrives with his cruiser Marjack on Wednesday. Mr. Jacobus is one of the club's most ardent fishermen, winning the Bradley trophy last year for heaviest sailfish.

Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Jennings of Fairfield, Conn., arrived at Palm Beach, and have taken a house for the winter months. His new fifty-foot Matthews cruiser has been at the dock several weeks preparing for several cruises to the Islands.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Smythe, whose new home is situated on the Ocean Boulevard close to the inlet, have recently joined the club and are daily visitors to the fishing grounds in their "Ketch," which is moored at the club dock. Mrs. Smythe caught a 25-pound King during the week.

Mr. Byron D. Miller, of Portland, Maine, and Palm Beach, a new member, visited the club with Mr. John Volk.

Palm Beach's own sport fishing fleet, trim and shipshape, comprising ten of the finest craft to be found in Southern waters, is quartered at the Poinciana Boat Basin, just north of Whitehall Hotel, all in readiness for another banner season of game fishing and cruising in the world-famous fishing waters of the Gulf Stream.

Manned by famous skippers whose years of experience in Florida waters is significant to the growth of this section, as the world's outstanding sailfish center, these craft are equipped for a two week's trip to the Bahamas or for a day's jaunt off the inlet.

Sport fishing has assumed a place of importance locally, with that of golf and tennis. To Palm Beach and not land a sailfish is really something.

AMONG THE PALMS

ONE of the centers of Palm Beach activity is The Breakers, one of the most magnificent hostelrys in the world. Already The Breakers has welcomed most of its all-season guests in addition to playing host to scores of others who are spending shorter sojourns.

A recent addition to the many diversions found at The Breakers is the new shuffleboard court in front of the Grand Loggia on the floor overlooking the ocean, which was formerly used for dancing. Every day finds a number of guests indulging in the pleasant pastime of a game of shuffleboard while the spectators observe from the comfortable chairs and swings surrounding the court.

Cocoanut Grove remains one of the most active social spots at tea time. Featuring the program of dancing with music by Walter Miller and the Meyer Davis orchestra, is the daily session of the "Big Apple," under the leadership of Mr. C. C. Roberto and his assistant, Miss Lilyan Piccoli. Scores of members of the Cottage Colony and many guests of The Breakers gather in the attractive Cocoanut Grove to participate in or observe this new dance sensation.

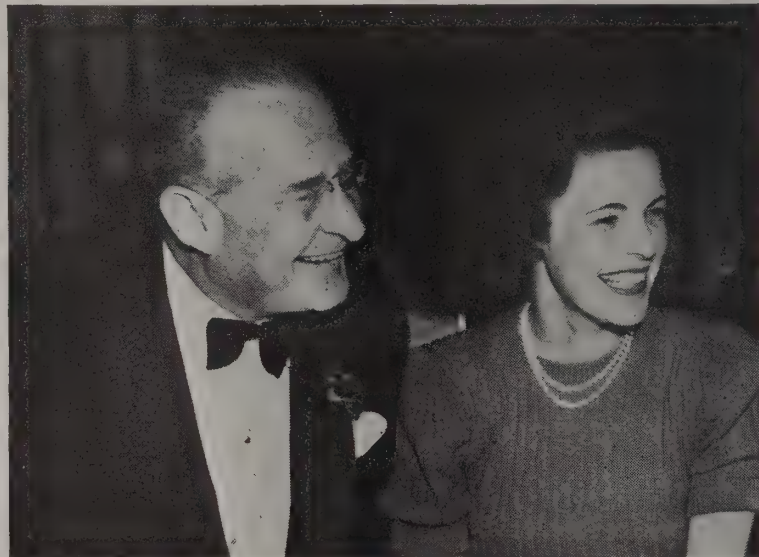

Among those who have entertained at tea parties in Cocoanut Grove of late are Mrs. William Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. William Pope, Miss Jeanne Davies, Mr. and Mrs. Robertson Drake, all members of the resort colony. Breakers' guests who have entertained at tea recently are Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Kane, Mr. Fred H. Ward, Mrs. Walter Gaston and others.

An innovation at The Breakers is the ensemble from Walter Miller's orchestra which plays nightly at the dinner hour in the North Loggia. Among those who have been hosts or hostesses at dinner in the circular dining room are: Mr. and Mrs. William Bright, Mrs. Ledyard Cogswell, Col. and Mrs. John Bayne MacLean. Mrs. Herbert E. Gale gave a dinner party recently in the North Lounge.

Recent arrivals at The Breakers to spend the season include: Mr. and Mrs. Louis D. Rockwell, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Henry McSweeney, Atlantic City; Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Bernardin, Kansas City, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter

For the past week over eighty members of the Winter Golf League of Advertising Interests have been at The Breakers, a visit made every season while their golf tournament is on.

The Brazilian Court Hotel has a definite appeal for important figures in society and world affairs who enjoy its quiet and dignified service. Lady Ribblesdale of London, who passed several days with Colonel Louis Jacques Balsan and Madame Balsan at their Hypoluxo Island estate, has returned to the hotel.

Lady Langford of London and Summerhill House, Enfield, County Meath in Ireland, is an important arrival at Brazilian Court, who is here for her first Palm Beach visit. Lady Langford is the widow of the Fourth Baron Langford.

Mrs. Robert Schey of New York and Lauralawn, East Hampton, L. I., is at the Brazilian Court Hotel to pass several weeks. She was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Theresa Todd Schey, who made her formal debut on November 28th, at a tea given by her parents at their home in New York. On December 4th they gave a large supper dance at the Pierre in honor of their daughter. Miss Schey is one of the most popular members of the younger set in the Hamptons and has shown at the leading horse shows in the East, winning many cups and ribbons.

Prominent figures in diplomatic circles who are in residence at the Brazilian Court Hotel include Dr. John W. Garrett, who arrived last week from Baltimore with Mrs. Garrett for an extended visit.

Dr. John Stewart Bryan of "Laburnum," Richmond, Va., is an annual visitor in this resort, who was accompanied by his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tennant Bryan.

Mrs. Duncan A. Holmes arrived last week in Palm Beach to join Mr. Holmes at the Brazilian Court Hotel, where they have taken a penthouse for the season. Their marriage was a social event of last April in Palm Beach, where both have visited annually for many years. They passed the summer at Hedgerows, their home at Southampton, L. I.

A visit to the Motorboat Seaglade in the terrace restaurant of the Hotel Seaglade, has prefaced many luncheon and dinner parties held in the Patio Gardens during the past week. The Motorboat Seaglade is none other than the quaint bar in this popular Hotel and delicious drinks served there seem to have the spicy tang of salty ocean breezes.

Among the hostesses who have taken advantage of the excellent cuisine and have later entertained their guests with bridge in the Ocean Lounge of the Hotel are: Mrs. Wesley Houser, Mrs. Isabel Case, Mrs. J. F. MacKenny, Mrs. George Weeks Hale, Mrs. William Feek, Mrs. George W. Lainhart and Mrs. Charles Hull.

Among the season visitors to the Seaglade who arrived during the past few days for their annual visit are: Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Moylan of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. George Hart, Mrs. Maude Van Dervoort, Mrs. James McCarren, Miss Alice McCarren and Rev. Father F. C. Cornish.

Seasonal visitors to Palm Beach who are making their annual sojourn at The Vineta have been most generous in their praise of the vast improvements made this season in this charming resort hotel.

Complete transformation of the building, both as to exterior and interior, from the Spanish type, to that of the Modern Classic style, now the vogue in the resort, has added much to the beauty and charm of this distinctive hotel, famous for its friendly and homelike atmosphere.

Excellent cuisine, which in the past has aided in establishing the reputation of The Vineta, is being maintained this season, with the delightful patio adjoining the dining room, proving a favorite spot for breakfast and luncheon. The additional South patio and gardens, always popular with the guests, are being frequented daily by those desiring a sheltered retreat and warm sunshine.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Bradley and their granddaughter, Miss Anne Thatcher Nelson, are members of the Chicago colony who have arrived for a season's stay.

Other season arrivals include, Mrs. H. H. Spaulding of New York City, Mrs. Robert Westaway and her son, Mr. Robert Westaway, Jr., of Englewood, N. J., and Mrs. A. J. Knowlson of Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. S. S. Pingree and Mrs. Denyven of St. Louis, Mo., have arrived to spend their third season at The Vineta. Others making their annual visit, include, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tiff of Boston, Mr. Louie B. O'Meara, of Bronxville, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Auchterlonie of Merchantsville, N. J.; and Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Freeman of Philadelphia, Mr. John B. Woodward, well known publishers' representative, and Mrs. C. P. McArthur of Buffalo.

The delightful old-fashioned custom of serving drinks on the house was revived at 6 o'clock on Thursday evening when the new Six o'Clock Club opened in the grill of the Palm Beach Hotel. Harry Tucker's orchestra, with those top-notch artists, the Four Noblemen, entertained.

Among the arrivals who joined the Southern colony recently at the hotel were the Rev. Francis G. Driscoll of Baltimore and his sister, Miss Cecilia V. Driscoll.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lehman of Newark, N. J., are at the Palm Beach for an indefinite stay.

Mrs. Victor Diedrich came this week to the hotel to pass the season. Her home is at Hot Springs, Ark.

PALM BEACH RECENTLY OPENED ITS FAMOUS WHITEHALL AMID GLITTERING GOWNS AND WITH FASHIONABLE NAMES DOTTING ITS TABLES WHILE JOHN PHILLIP SOUSA, III, MADE HIS DEBUT AS AN ORCHESTRA LEADER. IN CENTER OF FLOOR IS THE WHITEHALL'S "DANCE CAVALCADE" DOING THE "BIG APPLE" DANCE.

AIR TRAVEL TO THE TROPICS

THE International Pan-American Airport here, air gateway between the Americas, is humming with unprecedented activity for this period in the winter season. Travelers are hopping to ports in the tropics south of Florida at the rate of more than 6,000 per month. Extra, 30-passenger flying clipper ships have been put on by Pan-American Airways to accommodate the hundreds of early season travelers. The year has closed with a volume of air travel to the West Indies, Central and South America 17,000 passengers more than the previous year. This is an increase of some 34%.

More and more winter vacationists are finding that a two-hour clipper trip adds to the attractions of Miami those of Havana, "Paris of the Americas" or Nassau, the quaint and colorful resort in the British Bahamas.

Scores of other tourists are breakfasting at their homes or hotels in Miami Beach, and having luncheon in tropical Jamaica or myterious Haiti—or dinner the same evening at Santo Domingo, Puerto Rico, northern South America or Panama.

Many modern cloud cruisers are also discovering the fascinating isles of the old Spanish Main—the Virgin Islands, Guadalupe and Martinique, by means of a second day's clipper cruise south from Puerto Rico, winding up at sundown in old Port of Spain, Trinidad. From there the clipper sweeps the traveler around two sides of the Caribbean, over the West Indies, and all the way back to Miami in a day.

Returning from Panama or northern South America, the traveler in a hurry to get back to Miami's gay life has the thrill of breakfasting in South America, enjoying lunch aboard the clipper aloft over Jamaica, and dining in the United States well before dark.

The clipper time around the Caribbean sea, covering nine countries, is only a total of 33 hours. You can go rolling down to ravishing Rio itself in only five days; on to Buenos Aires by Douglas airliner in six. You can circle the West Indies and all of South America—19 colorful countries—in only eleven days' travel time!

North American tourists who formerly saw nothing more of the real Cuba than Havana's ancient forts and modern night clubs, are now taking the easy opportunity of seeing the entire length of this tropical isle by air.

Ultra-modern airliners of Cuban National Airways, a Pan-American wing, whisk the Havana visitors down over the picture-book scenes of interior Cuba, through Cienfuegos, Camaguey, Manzanillo and Antilla to old Santiago de Cuba, all between breakfast and lunch time. Returning tourists report Santiago "as Spanish as Spain," with many points of unusual interest, including the gorgeous harbor where Hobson sank his famous ship early during the Spanish American war; San Juan Hill, where Col. Teddy Roosevelt made his fighting name, and the remarkable Bacardi plant, where Cuba's most famous beverage is made, and where visitors are given generous "free samples" of the noted rum.

Between Havana and Miami triple flying clipper ship service is humming along to new records in air travel by Yankee winter vacationists.

Among the writers and publishers taking flying Clipper ships from Miami on various missions over various routes of late were the following:

Miguel Tato, of Hollywood, Argentine columnist and motion picture writer, hopped to Havana and on down to his native Buenos Aires; Rockwell Kent, writer and artist, to San Juan and Rio and return; Sidney Howard, playwright, looking around South America; Colonel James T. Hammond, publisher Commercial-Appeal of Memphis, to Havana and around the South American circle; Archibald MacLeish, poet and writer, to Chile, Argentine, and Brazil; Arthur Houlberg, Chicago publisher and Hugh J. Moore, editor of Stockton, Illinois, skipped over to Havana.

Arthur Dietz, popular publisher of the Maracaibo Herald, returned to Venezuela by Clipper ship; Nick Kenny, radio columnist of the New York Daily Mirror, and Farley Wheelwright, New York journalist, vacationed in Nassau, as did also Edward Mills, Manhattan publisher. Quentin Reynolds, associate editor of Colliers, hopped to Haiti on a hot story, while Carl Byoir, publicist, basked a brief week-end in the Bahamas. George O. Williams, managing editor of the Times-Union of Albany, also chose Nassau for a bit of recreation.

Roland H. Sharp, radio lecturer and writer for the Christian Science Monitor of Boston, rolled down to Rio, Buenos Aires and circled South America. Mrs. Kay Chase, radio writer, of Chicago, clippered to Port au Prince.

HOBBYING WITH MRS. RUTHERFURD

IN BOAT racing circles from Florida to Maine the name of Mrs. John M. L. "Jack" Rutherford calls to mind a tanned, blonde young woman whose very slimness seems to be all strength and determination, but in combination with her knowledge of the art of boat racing, places her in the ranks of the foremost sportswomen in America.

Mrs. Rutherford started racing in 1930 and together with Mr. Rutherford, barn-stormed the coast from Newport, R. I., south. During this year she had very bad weather to contend with when driving from race to race, particularly when there was no inland waterway and she necessarily had to go part of the way via the ocean. This was a difficult feat to accomplish and taught her much about handling boats. For all of her races the first two years, her husband, who was her coach, gave her the slow boats to race with, and she never won a race. This sounds rather discouraging, but is one of the reasons she now ranks as a top-notch. The slow boat in taking off and racing, is handicapped in the beginning by the waves caused by the waves caused by the preceding boats. Best race she ever won, in her opinion, was in the Internationals held here in 1932, when she won the Duc de Fall-rand Cup. At that time she raced against Percy Mendelssohn, who was the top-notch, and won because of her ability to wash him out at the turns. At that time the donor of the cup said that she was the best sport and best driving racer. Mrs. Rutherford has almost always raced against men and what could be better proof of her ability than the fact that she is treated like a man. Now she and Mr. Rutherford take their boats by trailer from race to race. At Redbank, Mass., she broke a man's lap record in a boat that she had never been in before. Her record for the 45-mile course was: Top speed, 81 miles an hour and an average of 66 miles an hour. She held the title in the "E" Class for a short time and this year she hoped to break the present record at Miami. In 1935 she raced in the "E" Class and Free for All. Last year she raced two boats in the "E" Class and President's Cup. In the latter race her motor broke down.

This winter Mrs. Rutherford will race Baby June in the "E" Class. This boat has a speed of 54 or 55 miles an hour. She also has a yen to drive Juno, which will make at least 85 or 90 miles an hour. This boat is 19 foot, was rebuilt in Miami, has a gold cup motor and is unsupercharged. All she is waiting for is a feminine challenger. But few women have had the training and know their boats as she does.

During the summer Mrs. Rutherford hopes to make the dream she has had for the past six years, come true. That is to race in Europe.

Mrs. Rutherford says, "I race because I like it. I like the terrific sensation of speed. When driving on the water and going 60 miles an hour you feel that you are going 160 miles an hour." She has no sense of fear and works a long time before a race to win. She has never had a first-class mechanic and when she first started racing was her own mechanic. This means she must spend a great deal of time before races getting her boats in order. "You never learn all there is to know about boat racing," says Mrs. Rutherford. "Racing isn't the simple thing it appears to be —steering a boat around the course. The waves or wakes of other boats cause the small boats to jump from side to side and much strength and understanding is needed in order to keep from up-setting and take the most advantage of every opportunity to win, especially on the turns where the boat must necessarily be slowed up." In all of Mrs. Rutherford's hobbies in the world of sports, she chooses those things which spell speed.

She likes tennis, even though her day's calendar for several years has been too full to allow her any time for this fast and exciting game. She often flies with Mr. Rutherford who has recently been made Lieut. Commander of the Reserves at the Naval base in Miami, but up to the present time she hasn't done any flying herself. However, in the future as soon as she has enough time to learn to pilot a plane and to flying, she intends to speed along the air lanes. She is also interested in racing stock cars, and is trying to promote a race at Roosevelt field. She has a feminine challenger from England for this race when it can be arranged. Mrs. Rutherford's hobby by day, when not racing, is fishing. She often entertains her house guests on deep-sea fishing parties and watches them reel in one Sailfish after another, while with all her patient endeavor she has never caught a Sail. She also loves to give cocktail and impromptu parties at her charming lake front residence.

GOLF COURSE AND TENNIS COURTS

TOURNAMENT activity in both golf and tennis has gotten under way to a fine start in the resort, with two golf tourneys already history at the Palm Beach Golf Club and the season's most important links affairs in the offing over the Poinciana course.

Tennis tourneys have been fairly well divided between the three resort clubs, including the Everglades, Bath and Tennis and the Palm Beach Tennis Club.

One of the feature attractions of the early season was the exhibition match held at the Bath and Tennis club with Bryan "Bitsy" Grant and Bobby Riggs, two of the nation's outstanding net satellites, meeting in a hard-fought two-set match.

Beating him at his own game, Bobby Riggs, youthful the play by meeting and scoring on Grant's famous base-line game.

Both back-court specialists, each used the extended volleys as their mainstay, playing the same wearing-down game, which made tennis history at Miami, causing Riggs to have leg cramps during the match and leading to Grant's collapse following the match.

Grant, who played a five-set doubles match in the morning at Miami, was the first to weaken under Riggs' cross-court game, although his famous chop-stroke served him well on several occasions.

Sustained rallies in the second set, which went to 10 games for Riggs, were features of the match, the ball traveling over the net, almost ceaselessly while both played carefully and surely, placing their shots as the result of planned attacks, hoping to catch their opponents off guard and score the point.

First of the major golf tournaments in the resort was the Annual Lake Worth Tournament, played over the Poinciana course with Jack Ryerson, Cooperston, N. J., golf veteran, nosing out Harold Kaplow of East Orange, N. J., in a gruelling extra-hole match which ended on the 38th green.

Ryerson, who was two-up at the end of the morning 18-hole round, finished the first nine of the afternoon play three-up. On the back nine however, Kaplow took three holes in a row and finished the 18th green with three birdies to his credit to halve the match. The players halved the first hole of the extra play and Ryerson sank a long putt on the short second for a birdie two to win the match.

Kaplow seemed to have a penchant for finding bunkers and traps throughout the match, but was deadly on the green, while Ryerson shot them straight down the alley but lacked his usual putting touch to tuck them away.

In the second flight finals, J. H. McClain, of Southampton, defeated Stuart G. Rosson, Baltimore, 2 and 1.

Winner of the third flight was J. C. Kugel, New York, who defeated Arthur Hammerstein, New York, 3 and 2.

Dr. H. J. Morlan, Chicago, defeated Dan Cravens, Franklin, Ind., to win the consolation by the score of 3 and 2.

This tourney provided a fitting start for the largest schedule in the history of the Palm Beach Golf Club.

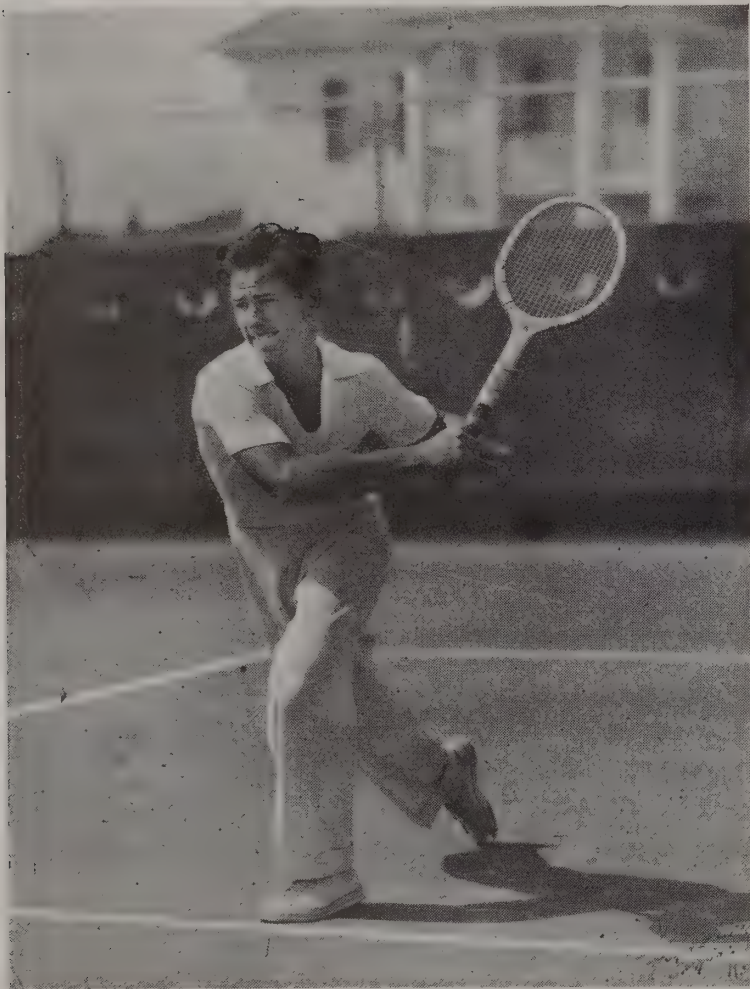

With the Thirty-first annual tournament of the Winter Golf League of Advertising Interests out of the way, the stage is being set for the annual visitation of the famous Artists and Writers, January 31 to February 5.

These famous figures in the world of the brush and pen give plenty of color and gaiety to the resort while here, throwing care to the winds and playing golf as a secondary consideration to their pleasure.

Such noted personages as McClelland Barclay, Arthur William Brown, Gene Buck, Ham Fisher, James Montgomery Flagg, Rube Goldberg, John LaGatta, Grantland Rice, Rex Beach, Frank Willard and Billy Debeck, all descend on Palm Beach, enmasse to dig divots and stymie on the 19th hole.

Frank Willard, creator of Moon Mullins and the irrepressible Kayo won the event last year, defeating a fellow contemporary, Billy DeBeck, brain-father of Joe Palooka, by the tally of 6 and 4, to give the cartoonists the break in the tournament.

Following the Artists and Writers affair comes the outstanding golf tournament of the season, the Annual Woman's Championship of Palm Beach, February 7 to February 11,

Chicago tennis star, turned the tables on the Atlanta court coverer, taking two straight sets in an exhibition match by the score of 7-5, 10-8.

In a two-set match preceding, Elwood Cooke, well-known Oregon player, shared honors with Martin Buxy of Miami, each taking a set by the score of 6-4.

Following their singles match Riggs and Grant teamed together to defeat the Buxy-Cooke combination in a one-set match by the tally of 6-2.

Others entered include, Kathryn Hemphill, Columbia, S. C., star, Mrs. Jane Cothran Jameson, runner-up in the Augusta event, formerly of Greenville, S. C., Jean Bauer, Providence, R. I., Audrey Phipps, of Palm Beach and Piping Rock, L. I., Maureen Orcutt, three times winner of the event; Helen

Other tournament play at the Palm Beach Golf Club includes, the South Florida Championship, February 14 to 18 and the Men's Championship of Palm Beach, February 28 to March 4.

Members of the Old Guard Society of Palm Beach Golfers have started the first of the series of nine-hole events, and have a number of other tournaments scheduled including the annual Breakers trophy affair.

Tournament activity in the tennis world of Palm Beach will be divided this season between the Everglades Club and the Bath and Tennis, although the resort's stellar event, the annual Palm Beach Invitational Tournament, which attracts most of the nation's outstanding net stars will be held on the fine clay courts of the Everglades Club, February 7 to 13.

Bath and Tennis Club is the scene of regular weekly round robin play each Friday afternoon, with a crowded entry list of prominent racquet wielders taking part and a large gallery urging their favorites on.

The Palm Beach Tennis Club is also a scene of activity with many members of the resort colony using the courts for practice rounds and taking part in the regular Sunday afternoon mixed doubles round robins between well-known professionals and feminine tennis enthusiasts. This is one of the few clubs in the country where such events are held, having been started here many seasons ago.

Thirty-first annual tournament of the Winter Golf League of Advertising Interests came to a close last Friday at the Palm Beach Golf Club, with M. B. Kaesche of Ridgewood, N. J., defeating R. W. Lansdell of Hackensack, N. J., by the close margin of 1 up.

It was a close battle all the way, with Kaesche winning the first three holes of the out-nine and losing the last three, to remain all even at the turn, each scoring 40.

On the in-nine, Kaesche took the 12th and 13th in regulation figures but lost the 14th when his approach went over the green. They halved the next four holes to give Kaesche a 1 up lead at the end of the 18th, the winner chalking up a 37 for a 77 and Lansdell, making a 38 for whole round of 78. Following the tourney, a banquet was held at The Breakers Hotel and golf prizes distributed.

MIAMI

SOCIAL events, one following closely upon the heels of another, set a dizzy pace for the Miami resorts this season. A scattering of titled visitors, a number of celebrities, and a generous sprinkling of notables in the sports and social world add zest to one of the liveliest programs in many seasons.

Philip Wylie, the prolific author, who seems to have a novel always on the fire, is busy at the Roney Plaza Cabana Sun Club finishing a story, which will appear within six months. It will not have a Miami setting as did, "Second Honeymoon," which was widely read two seasons ago and which was successfully turned into a motion picture. Dr. William A. Gardner, chief medical consultant for the Rockefeller Institute in New York, and his wife, Dr. Hannah Gardner, arrived here recently to be the guests of Mr. Wylie at his Miami Beach apartment and since then have frequently been aboard the "Beachcomber" for fishing at the Key Largo Anglers Club.

The first tea dance of the season in the palm gardens of the Roney Plaza was an occasion which will long be remembered by the colony. Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Graham of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence James Gray of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore A. Lucchesi, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Williams of Indianapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Camerin Gregg of Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Bancroft, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Stephens of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Burton W. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. George James Veale, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Baya, Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Bellenger, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton D. Benson, Dr. and Mrs. Anthony Amerise, Mrs. James H. Bright, Dr. and Mrs. Bowman Foster Ashe, Walter W. Bruns, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Brunstetter.

Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. W. Ross Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Bradbury L. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Calkins, Comdr. and Mrs. Cleland Davis, Mr. and Mrs. H. Reid DeJarnette, Mr. and Mrs. W. Scott Deming, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Dougherty.

In other parties at the tea dance were Major and Mrs. George de Lani Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Fincher, Capt. and Mrs. Frank C. Flanagan, Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Headley, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hubbell, Dr. and Mrs. John Tom Holdsworth, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Louie E. Lanford, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Leyshon, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kiehnel, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. McGarry, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Miller, Col. and Mrs. P. J. O'Shaughnessy, Mr. and Mrs. Inman Padgett, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Page, James B. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. William Oakley Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Royce, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Sykes, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Squibb, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Taylor.

Sir Philip Sassoon, former head of the British Air Ministry, and Lieut. Anthony Wimbush of London, were an addition to the winter colony recently. They flew their private plane to Palm Beach to be the guests of Col. Louis Jacques Balsan and Madame Balsan at their estate, Casa Alba, on Hypoluxo island in Lake Worth, prior to their departure for Trinidad by Pan American Clipper ship. Sir Philip and Mr. Wimbush will return later to occupy their suite in the Roney Plaza.

Plans are being made for the Helen Lee Doherty Lace ball, which will take place on the terraces and in the ball-room of the Miami Biltmore Country Club, February 18. The philanthropy, one of the high spots of the winter social season in Miami, was established by Mrs. Theodore William Wessel several years ago for the benefit of the milk fund which supplies milk to hundreds of underprivileged skiddies each year.

Mrs. Wessel is the former Helen Lee Doherty, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Henry L. Doherty of New York and Washington, D. C. Mrs. Wessel married the Danish charge d'affaires of Chile and for the past year has lived in Santiago.

Mrs. John E. Norman and Mrs. Andrew E. Rickmers will be co-chairman of the ball again this year as they have for the past five years, and both are busy now with arrangements, which they say will make the function one of the most memorable in resort annals.

The patroness list will include many of the most prominent members of the colony.

The annual dinner party of Joseph E. Widener of Philadelphia, for members of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners was a brilliant affair in the ocean lounge of the Roney Plaza.

The ocean lounge, for the occasion, was transformed into a gay banquet room, with a huge table in the shape of a horseshoe, placed before the high windows that look out on the Atlantic ocean. A profusion of flowers were strewn about the table.

Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Stein, Mr. and Mrs. Parks Glover, Frank J. Rogers, all of Miami; Samuel J. Hilburn of Palatka, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Foster, William Schlake and Walter Peacock of Chicago; Tom R. Underwood of Lexington, Ky.; Frank Small, Jr., of Clinton, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Connors of Brighton, Mass.; James G. Moran of Mansfield, Mass.; Adnah Neyhart of Boston, Mass.

William J. Downing, Richard Sauter and Robert E. Lomansey, all of Detroit, Mich.; J. A. Cullen of Omaha, Neb.

Ralph H. George and Charles A. Allen of Concord, N. H.; Mr. and Mrs. Irving A. Kinkley of Lancaster, N. H.; Herbert Bayard Swope, John Sloan and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Shevlin of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Blecker of Mansfield, O.; Louis F. Allen of Wadsworth, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Harrop of Providence, R. I.

Edwin James Brown of Seattle, Wash.; Beverley Broun of Charleston, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. William Ayers, Dr. Charles E. Morgan of New York; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cone, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Paul, Dr. and Mrs. Vincent Stewart, Frank Stewart, Col. and Mrs. John D. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Whitman.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter McGriff, Adrian Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Fry, Ralph H. George, Mrs. Helen Kane, Charles A. Allen, Mrs. Nellie Coffin, Cedric E. Fauntleroy, Mrs. Bernice Pepper, Robert A. O'Brien, Miss Fleta Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. William H. McCabe, Harry Hackney, Al Bishop, James Fitzsimmons, Walter Turnier, Miss Betty Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Combs, 2nd.

Preston Burch, Mr. and Mrs. Selby Burch, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Cassidy, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Catlett, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Field, Jack Fitzgerald, Edward Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. James Loftus.

Miss Leone Madden, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Madden, Henry

Nias, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Norman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ortell, Joe Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Parrish, Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Plaut, Mr. and Mrs. William Roche, Norris Royden, Mr. and Mrs. George Ryall, Major G. L. Stryker, Miss Cecelia Travers, Miss Rose Vozzi, H. J. Wollmer, Walter Donovan, Mrs. Polly Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Patey.

Daily teas and dinner parties are being arranged by members of the resort colony to entertain the women golfers who will compete in the Miami Biltmore Women's Golf Championship, January 31 to February 5.

Patty Berg of Minneapolis, Minn., runner-up for the National Women's Golf Championship last year, will return to defend the title she holds at the Miami Biltmore. The coveted Grace Doherty trophy will be awarded.

Among others who will play will be Beatrice Barrett of Minneapolis; Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky.; Marion McDougall of Portland, Ore.; Jean Bauer, of Providence, R. I.; Jane Cochran Jamison of Greenville, S. C.; Katherine Hemphill of Columbia, S. C., and Grace Amory and Audrey Phipps of Palm Beach.

Most winter visitors here this season are rounding out their programs with at least a day's fishing at the Key Largo Angler's Club.

A forty pound grouper was the prize of the catch of a recent party at which Harvey S. Firestone was the host. Guests were T. E. Pettinger and T. E. Pettinger, Jr., and E. C. Zimmerman of Akron, O.

Mrs. H. H. Babcock of Park Avenue, New York, caught a seven-foot sailfish at Key Largo Angler's Club recently. The Nathan Rubenkamps of Chicago, continuing a honeymoon spent in Europe, put in a couple of weeks fishing at Key Largo also.

Miss Margaret Prunty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter P. Prunty of Jamaica, L. I., is a guest of the Roney Plaza while in Miami to visit her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore A. Lucchesi. Mr. and Mrs. Lucchesi and Miss Prunty went to Palm Beach for the formal opening of Whitehall.

Miss Gladys Kiplinger of Brookfield, Conn., has joined her sister, Mrs. Doris Chessman of New York at the Roney Plaza for a winter vacation.

Judge and Mrs. Hillary Keenan of Greensburg, Pa., entertained with a dinner party in the Viennese room recently. Their guests were Mrs. Herbert Weber of Washington, D. C., and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Yates of Miami Beach.

On the same occasion, Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Parks entertained Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Gierhart of Rye, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Fitting of Nutley, N. J., and Eugene Schoemhardt of Pocano Hills, Pa.

Much of the social activity of Miami this season centers around Hialeah Park. The opening day was one of the most colorful in the long and colorful history of this track.

Included in the list of boxholders, many of whom entertained with luncheons in the clubhouse before the first race, were Edward T. Stotesbury, Philadelphia and Palm Beach; Willis Sharpe Kilmer, Binghamton, N. Y.; Fred J. Fisher, Detroit, Mich.; Harvey S. Firestone of Akron, O.; DeWitt Page, Bristol, Conn.; James M. Cox, Dayton, O.; Col. E. R. Bradley, Lexington, Ky., and Palm Beach; John F. Harris of New York and Palm Beach; Mrs. J. H. Trimble, Indianapolis, Ind.; Mrs. Payne Whitney, New York; C. B. ## UNDER THE STARS

EMERALDS, Ermine and Elegance . . . The three words most descriptive of the Palm Beach scene after dark; when society sheds its slacks and sandals to don fine feathers . . . preparatory to having fun at the Patio . . . and now . . . the Colony Club . . . which opens its doors tomorrow night . . . Wednesday, January 26th, in case you overlook your Palm Beach Life on the day it comes out . . . January is just about to slip into oblivion and February, Palm Beach's gayest month, is rushing in to freeze the tardy ones out of their northern lairs and . . . society is literally streaming into Palm Beach every day from the four corners of the earth . . . By day this glamorous crowd bask on the beaches

MR. AND MRS. GUERNSEY CURRAN, JR., OF NEW YORK CITY, SOUTHAMPTON, L. I. AND "HILLBROOKE," AT "THE PATIO." MRS. CURRAN, JR., IS THE FORMER FLORENCE KIP CLARKE.

. . . dot the fairways . . . and swing skillful rackets on the island's immaculately groomed tennis courts . . . clad in shorts, colorful slacks, beach pajamas and other informal and picturesque attire . . . but . . . when night falls, loveliness is cloaked in satins and sables and masculine Palm Beach gleams from white shirt front to sleek dancing pumps. . . . Now that the island is fairly teeming with socialites, the Patio is reaching the point where it is straining at the seams from the gay throng who come in for dinner and dancing . . . thus the opening of the Colony Club, featuring Rainbow Room Al Donahue and his famous orchestra, and . . . Durelle Alexander . . . who has been standing them on their ears in New York, as well as Eddie LeBaron's Rhumba band, . . . is the answer to the merrymaker's prayer . . . At the Patio, formality begins and ends with formal attire . . . although the atmosphere is not one of stiff formality . . . quite the contrary rather . . . gay camaraderie yes . . . joy de vivre perhaps . . . care-free merrymaking mayhap . . . definitely not strictly formal in anything but dress. Don't take any word for it but drop around some evening and see society in a care-free mood . . . Last week visitors to the Patio found both Continental and American society having the time of their lives . . . each night bringing forth something impromptu and gay after the zero hour . . . Captain Cecil Boyd Rochfort, Lady Anne Hunloke, Henry Hunloke, Captain and Mrs. Nugent Head, were among the group who started a Big Apple at the Patio a few nights back . . . Wally Kolb, Cleveland's gift to the baking industry, started the ball rolling and when it came his turn to "shine" asked Val Ernie to play . . . Highland Music . . . in Big Apple time . . . Rolling up his tux' trousers Wally did a Highland fling that brought the house down (figuratively if you please) and in a moment was joined by Lady Anne Hunloke, who proved that the British are swell sports by making Wally look anaemic with her Highland Appling (who knows but what this is the beginning of a new dance step?) . . . Captain Cecil Boyd Rochfort was nothing short of terrific when it came his turn to "shine" and Lady Anne's husband upheld the traditions of the British Empire right nobly . . . One could go on like this indefinitely for they were all grand . . . Jack Rutherford, the speed-boat king and his queen, Maude Rutherford . . . Milton Holden, Edmund Sheedy, Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Seymour Shonnard, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davis, Pierre Barbey, Jr., Henry I. Barbey, Lillian Feitner, Theresa Schey, Stephen Rhode, William Livingston, Captain Alastair Mackintosh, Peggy Seyburn, Frances Ronalds and so on ad infinitum . . . lovely Lady Anne Hunloke fairly stole the show . . . That very, very smart looking group at the north end of the Patio's patio the other night was Mr. and Mrs. J. Jay O'Brien's party and that dancing flash was Mrs. Wolcott Blair and her host doing the rhumba . . . Nice party . . . Others in the party were Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, Mr. Milton Holden, Mr. Rodman Wanamaker 2nd, Mr. and Mrs. William Paley and Captain and Mrs. Amcotts Wilson and John Y. William Martin and beautiful Nancy Byers, were at the Patio as Palm Beach's most interesting newly-weds . . . The most unique escort seen at the Patio this season . . . Lillian Feitner and her duplicate of "Charlie McCarthy," which she introduced to her party a la Eddie Bergen recently . . . Charles Munn and his dancing daughters, Pauline Doyle, Frances and Mary

MR. JEFFREY ROCHE AND MISS JANE EWING ROVENSKY ARE SHOWN AT "THE PATIO." JEFFREY IS THE SON OF THE FAMOUS NOVELIST--THE LATE ARTHUR SOMERS ROCHE. AND MRS. ROCHE. JANE IS THE DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. JOHN E. ROVENSKY.

Munn, who take turns Patioing with their dad are on the Herbert Taylor's list of the ten best dancers on the island . . . and who could be better judges? . . . Mrs. Dodge Sloane, America's first lady of the turf, also is one of Palm Beach's most charming hostesses . . . You couldn't find a bored face in her party at the Patio the other night which included Mrs. Baldwin Day Spilman, Miss Louise Iselin, Tom Evans, and a host of others . . . Captain and Mrs. Amcotts Wilsons' smart party included Madame Louis Jacques Balsan, Prince Rospigliosi, Contessa Di Zoppola, the Victomte Sosthenes de la Rouchfoucauld and Sir Philip Sassoon . . . Jack McAuliffe claims to be Palm Beach's poorest handicapper but his wife hit the longest shot of the early season at Hialeah and entertained for a large party of friends that night at the Patio . . . Sonia Phipps and young J. A. Peter Strassburger . . . a most charming looking couple on the dance floor at the Patio . . . can't help but think of springtime . . . the birds . . . and the bees . . . when we see this couple . . . Dolly may be a feminine name but "Dolly" Starke is he-man enough to squelch the toughest ball players in the Big Leagues and witty enough to be the life of the group when he is in Mrs. Joseph (Kim) Moran's parties with Mr. and Mrs. Archibald McNeil, Jr., Mrs. Harry Naramore, and Mr. Joe Bannon . . . A few of the interesting people who were at the Patio for dinner and dancing last week included Mrs. Francis Taylor, Mrs. E. Hawley Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Zuver, Mrs. George Warren Fuller, Horace Kelland, Woolworth Donahue, Mrs. John Randolph Hearst, Edward J. Reeves, Lytle Hull, Mrs. Jean Cochran Atwell, Captain and Mrs. Egerton, Ted Peckham, Miss Helen Rich, Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Quinn, Mr. and Mrs. Guernsey Curran, Jr., the Honorable Charles Winn, the Marquis de Polignac, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Goodman, Mr. and Mrs. George Edward Kent, Jr., Mrs. Wesson Seyburn, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford W. Smith, Mr. Sam Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Feltman, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rich, Mr. James Hyde, Mr. and Mrs. Egerton Warburton, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Williamson, Prince Miguel De Braganza, Mrs. Grover Loening, Miss Louise Loening, Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Ames. . . Luncheon Hour at the Patio finds Mr. and Mrs. Palm Beach out in all their daytime informality . . . dancing to the music of Val Ernie's band under the Florida sun instead of the star-lit sky . . . though many of the smart crowd who drop in for luncheon and dancing trek into the cocktail room for their dancing and hold their luncheon parties under the gay colored umbrellas which dot the open-air dance floor . . . Gay colored slacks snug fitting boleros fretwork sandals and a gorgeous coat of tan are the principal concomitants to dressing for luncheon at the Patio . . . At the Colony Club the Cocktail-Hour picture will be a bit more formal with many of the island's socialites displaying their most beautiful afternoon gowns, picture hats and the latest in Parisian footwear . . . Here the Herbert Taylors will trip the light fantastic each day for their fashionable audiences . . . This popular dancing couple are winning admirers and incidentally almost more pupils than they can handle every day . . . Everything from the Big Apple to the smoothest Rhumba seen in Palm Beach is at the fingertips or rather the toe tips of this brilliant couple and many of the island's best dancers owe their proficiency to the Taylors . . . Speaking of entertainment Durelle Alexander, who will be the piece de resistance with Al Donahue's band at the Colony Club, is the most versatile little lady encountered among club singers . . . New York critics who have watched her at the Rainbow Room at Rockefeller Center say that Durelle can be anything a song calls for . . . sophisticated . . . pert . . . sweet . . . and lovely . . . Al Donahue incidentally is bringing his entire musical organization with him from the Rainbow Room . . . including the "String Choir" and "Male Glee Club" . . . Donahue also writes lyrics . . . "Dancing in the Clouds" being one of his tunes . . . Palm Beach will be intrigued with Donahue's individual novelties, which are an integral part of the orchestra . . .

There's nothing like GAS for

Gas gives you the intense heat needed to brown meats so fast that loss of juices is prevented. Full flavor is saved.

ROASTING
Gas gives you the oven ventilation which produces crisp, juicy roasts. Excess moisture is allowed to escape, preventing that flat "steamed flavor."

BAKING
Baking requires even heat throughout the oven and unlimited range of baking temperatures, for light, evenly browned cakes, pies, breads. Gas gives both!

FRYING
Perfect, speedy frying requires instant high heat—even spread of heat under the skillet—numberless heat variations. Gas gives all three!

BOILING
Faster! Gas brings foods to a boil in  $\frac{2}{3}$  the time or less of other fuels. More flexible, it gives you the exact shades of heat you need.

Luxury Unlimited...

WE call this lordly Series 90 Buick the LIMITED, but you will find it a car of decidedly unlimited satisfactions.

In spite of its size and bulk, its mighty DYNAFLASH engine can flash it from ten to sixty miles an hour in 18.3 seconds.

To the deep comfort of its spacious interiors has been added the unapproached smooth safety of the TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING ride.

And such is the feather-lightness of its handling that your own hands ache to drive it whenever you're a passenger.

Our judgment is that this great car is unequalled elsewhere within a thousand dollars of its price. We would be glad to have you check that judgment with your own.

The Buick LIMITED is available in three body styles and is priced at $2176 to $2453, complete, delivered at Flint, Mich. Model illustrated is the LIMITED six-passenger Touring Sedan $2176 delivered at Flint. Fenderwells and special accessories, local taxes if any and transportation extra.

"Better buy Buick!"
